

Schuler named to three-member county transit district

By JUDY TAPLIN
Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City was among three persons appointed Wednesday to Madison County's new mass transit district board by county board chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City.

Also appointed were Violet Tucker, Collinsville Township supervisor, and Bill Haine, Madison County board member from Alton. All three are Democrats.

Formation of the transit district—which will impose up to a one-fourth percent sales tax to subsidize bus service—was approved at the county board's November meeting for a one-year trial period.

Although the three nominees won confirmation easily, several sources on the county board said they regard Schuler's appointment as a political move on the part of Hagnauer, and a boost for Schuler's chances to win reelection as mayor next April. County Board Member Dan Partney of Granite City, who plans to oppose Schuler for mayor of Granite City in next April's election, voted no on Schuler's appointment.

Opposition sources point to what they believe are the more solid qualifications of Gene Brombolich, Collinsville mayor, for the job. Both Brombolich and Alton mayor Paul Lenz were considered for membership on the transit board.

State law authorizing transit districts for Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties stipulates that each board be composed of a mayor, a county board member and a township supervisor.

Hagnauer said he is not sure what course would be taken in the event either Schuler or Mrs. Tucker is voted out of office in April. He told reporters he will ask the state's attorney's office to determine whether the new officeholders would then join the transit board or whether he would be required to appoint replacements.

In the event, he is to appoint new transit board members after the April election, he would make sure the three major geographical areas—Alton, Collinsville and Granite City—were represented, he said.

Haine, the county board's representative on the transit board, had introduced the resolution creating the transit board for a one-year trial period.

In voting against Schuler's appointment, Partney said Schuler had only attended 30 of 77 meetings when Schuler was a Bi-State Commissioner.

Partney told a reporter he is certain that membership on the transit board will require a large amount of time and effort and Schuler's record as a former Bi-State commissioner indicates he was not willing to take the time then, so he probably wouldn't now, Partney contended.

Partney noted that Hagnauer, seeking re-election as Granite City Township Supervisor, and Schuler, for mayor, are running on the same ticket.

The Monroe County board this month approved formation of a transit district for a six-month period.

The St. Clair County board will cast its vote Dec. 29, three days before the deadline set by Bi-State Transit for a promise of financial help.

The bus company has outlined drastic cuts in service which will take place Jan. 1, if local funding to subsidize the transit system is not provided.

At present, the state of Illinois turns the sales tax revenue from the three counties over to Bi-State. That drops back to a about $3 million in January, but will go to $6 million if the transit

City ok's study for bond issue

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

Granite City officials agreed Tuesday night to give Sidener Supply Co. a hand in a proposed $700,000 project to move the company's St. Louis headquarters to Granite City and to relocate its current business and yard near the site of the company's proposed new headquarters, behind Pre-Coat Metals on Route 3 north of West Pontoon Road.

Sidener plans to acquire 5.35 acres there to be used for the business and headquarters. A resolution was presented before Tuesday night's Granite City Council meeting asking the city to conduct a feasibility study to determine if it would be plausible for the city to issue up to $700,000 in industrial revenue bonds to aid Sidener in the project.

City Attorney John Papa, who drafted the resolution, said the city would not be bound by the resolution to go through with issuing the bonds, since it calls only for a feasibility study on the issue. The aldermen then passed the resolution unanimously, but not without some comment.

Alderman Lloyd Bailey said he was upset that Sidener planned to vacate its property at 19th and Adams streets, after the city paid for an access roadway to the property from 20th Street along the railroad tracks.

The city provided the access roadway and fencing to competing Sidener after construction of the 19th Street overpass cut off Sidener's former entrance.

Mayor Paul Schuler did not elaborate, but did say that Sidener "has other plans for the present facility."

City's revenue fund 'appears' in violation

Granite City appears to be in non-compliance with the rules of the federal revenue sharing program by denying handicapped persons accessibility to city council meetings or to the city's main library, the city council was informed in a letter from the revenue sharing office in Washington, D.C., read at Tuesday night's regular council meeting.

In the letter, drafted by Johnny M. Franklin, program specialist with the civil rights division of the revenue sharing office, the council was informed that inaccessibility of the handicapped to city council meetings, which are on the top floor of the city hall, and to the main library, which is reached only by a long stairway, seems to violate the non-discrimination guidelines governmental bodies must follow if they receive revenue sharing funds, as Granite City does.

In the letter, Franklin says, "The office of revenue sharing is in receipt of a communication which alleges entitlement revenue sharing funds have been used by your government in a manner in violation of section 122(a) of the state and local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972, as amended.

"Specifically, it is alleged that the city council meetings for the city of Granite City are inaccessible to the handicapped, because the meetings are held on the top floor of the city hall building, which has no entrance ramps nor elevators.

"It is further alleged that the main library is inaccessible in that it can only be entered by climbing several steps. Ramps are not provided. The branch library is accessible, but there are many limitations.

"The collection of books falls short of the selection of books available at the main library. It is open for shorter periods of time and there is no procedure to transport books from the main library to the branch to be used by the handicapped," the letter continues.

It cites specific federal rules outlawing discrimination on the grounds of race, color, national origin, sex, age, religion or handicapped status by any governmental agency receiving federal funds.

The letter explained that it was not a notice of non-compliance, but was a warning that there is apparent non-compliance and a staff member from the revenue sharing office would

Trade zone site in GC approved

St. Louis Metropolitan Area Foreign Trade Zone 31, located at the Tri-City Regional Port District in Granite City has received an additional grant of authority from the Foreign Trade Zones Board in Washington, D.C., to begin foreign trade zone operations in a 95,000 square foot warehousing facility at 1803 State St.

Approval by the Foreign Trade Zone Board was granted Nov. 21. It was announced this week. The ruling will allow foreign trade zone procedures to be used in the St. Louis metropolitan area immediately, officials said.

The Tri-City Regional Port District, headed by General Manager Carl A. Ranft, will continue its plans to develop the zone in the 47 acres previously designated as Foreign Trade Zone 31 within the Port's 127-acre industrial park near the Chain of Rocks Canal.

The trade zone site newly approved offers rail and motor carrier services, warehousing and handling, as well as all customs procedures necessary to operate such a facility.

The warehouse was formerly the headquarters of the Tri-City Grocery Co. Its location is within the St. Louis Customs Port of Entry.

The warehouse is operated by Fox Industries, Inc.

Venice city officials criticize census list

By MICK STRANGE

The preliminary census figures for 1980 show the population of Venice at 3,418 with 1,279 homes, a decrease in population of 1,162 from the 1970 census which showed 4,680 people in Venice.

The 1950 census listed 6,226 and the 1960 census listed 5,279 residents of the city.

The method of taking the census came under criticism by the Venice council at the Tuesday evening meeting.

"I believe this is the worst conducted census in the history of this country. The forms were too personal and too lengthy. It took me 45 minutes to fill mine out," Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said.

Other problems noted with the census was that many of the people would not cooperate as the census bureau sent "strangers" into the town for the information.

Mayor Echols noted that he did not feel there would be much change in the figures and this would hurt the city financially as much of the federal government funding is based on the figures.

"We read in the papers about the woes of East St. Louis. Well, we are getting to that point too. There are rumors that Conalco may be going down and this census does not paint a good picture for the future. We are facing some rough financial times and there are some things that we have been doing in the past, like Christmas baskets, which we are getting to the point we just might not be able to afford them in the future," Echols said.

Venice Alderman Victor Valentine Sr., a Conalco employee, said, "Conalco has no thought of closing at this time. I think the article in the Press-Record went a bit overboard. The company is hoping for an increase in business. There is some question on how much of the operation will be moved to Ohio."

The McKinley Bridge traffic report for November 1980 showed a daily average of 10,022 vehicles crossing, with a monthly total of 300,953. This is a decrease of 212 vehicles over November 1979.

The police report for November 1980 indicated 850 in fines collected and 35 arrests made.

The Interstate Commerce Commission may rule in 1981 on the proposed merger of the Norfolk and Western Railway and Southern Railway.

The two major railroads seek to operate as a consolidated system under a holding company called NWS Enterprises, Inc.

The system is to serve a territory of 21 states including this area; operate a rail network of 18,100 miles; employ about 46,000 people; and generate annual revenues of $3 billion.

Three years after consummation, the railroads project annual benefits of $95 million. More efficient routing over the system can result in yearly savings for all railroads of five million gallons of diesel fuel, it has been estimated.

NWS would own all of the common stock of both railroads. Day-to-day operations would continue to be directed by officers of the separate lines.

The formal application to the ICC this month is the culmination of six months of planning which saw the managements of the two companies reach agreement on the consolidation in June.

approval by the two boards of directors in July, and stockholder approval on Nov. 7.

By law, the ICC must reach a decision on the application within 30 months, but the consolidation most recently approved by the ICC was concluded in substantially less time.

NW and Southern said their consolidation would "Coordinate operation of two of the nation's most efficient and best managed railroads into a single system."

Our case before the ICC will include three specific areas of improvement that will make the combined system more efficient and competitive than either line could be on its own.

"These are (1) single system service over much greater distances, (2) greater opportunity and scope for run-through trains, and (3) physical consolidation of yard operations at many common points, and joint use of other facilities."

An "end-to-end" consolidation, the NWS system would unify the 7,900-mile NW, which stretches from Norfolk, Va., west to Kansas City, Mo., and North into the key markets of Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland, with the 10,800-mile Southern.

The Southern blankets the Southeast, from New Orleans, La., Mobile, Ala., and Panama, Fla., north to Cincinnati, O., and Washington, D.C.; and from Madison and St. Clair counties, Ill., and Memphis, Tenn., eastward to the Atlantic ports of Norfolk, Va., Morehead City, N.C., Charleston, S.C., Savannah and Brunswick, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla.

The railroads connect at 17 common points, with major connections at East St. Louis; Cincinnati; Bristol, Altavista, Danville, Lynchburg, Norfolk and Norton, all in Virginia; and Winston-Salem and Durham, in North Carolina.

"The companies predict increased efficiency in routing, handling and interchange of traffic; substantial savings from utilization of NW and Southern resources for the benefit of the system as a whole; and considerable economies from elimination of redundant facilities."

A principal benefit will be the establishment of five new major routes: the Altavista Gateway Route, The Lynchburg-Knoxville Cutoff Route, the Mid-South Corridor Route, The Kansas City Gateway Route and the Shingora-Hooper Corridor Route," the railroads said.

"Over these new routes, run-through and inter-road trains will provide substantially improved service in both the north-south and east-west directions."

"Single-system service from (Southern Railway) points in the Southeast will be offered by shorter, more efficient routes to the North via the Hagerstown, Md., gateway, to the Midwest via the Altavista, Bristol, Lynchburg and Cincinnati gateways, and to the West via the St. Louis and Kansas City gateways."

"NW points in the Midwest such as Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland will similarly obtain single-system service to such Southern Railway points as Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans and Memphis."

As an example of greater efficiency through single-carrier service, Southern and NW expect to use the Lynchburg-Knoxville Cutoff route to shorten the distance for single-system service from Memphis, Tenn., to Potomac Yard near Washington, D.C., by 159 miles, from 1,073 miles to 914 miles, over the combined system.

"These new routes and through trains will assure more reliable single-system service over shorter routes, thus saving fuel and returning traffic to fuel-efficient railroads," they said.

The application to the ICC also projects expected cost savings through consolidation of certain shop and repair functions.

For example, NW has car shops at Roanoke, Va., which can construct open-top hoppers, covered hoppers for grain hauling and open gondolas for a variety of loads.

The cost is regarded substantially less than an outside supplier would charge, and the Roanoke shops are operating well below their maximum capacity at present. At Roanoke, NW says it can build more cars, for both railroads, more efficiently, and enable them to minimize costs, to ultimately benefit shippers.

Also, Southern has a rail-welding plant in Atlanta, which has the capacity to produce continuous welded "ribbon" rail for both railroads.

They also expect better utilization of existing car fleets and a resulting reduction in additional equipment needs.

"Freight will move faster, costs will be lower, railroad cars will spend less time in transit, we will be using less fuel, and we will have more opportunities to move cars loaded in both directions or to develop so-called triangular movements," the companies said.

They added that better use of facilities is anticipated as a result of carefully planned consolidation of certain freight yard operations at common points. At Cincinnati, NW's older and smaller Clare Yard will be retired and both lines will use Southern's large Gest Street Yard.

Coal mined on NW lines will have single-system access to ports and power plants served by Southern.

Grain available in abundance on NW's Midwestern lines, will move via single-system service to the historically grain-deficit southeastern region.

Conservation area proposed

A vast 200-acre conservation area that would be left untouched in Naneski Township was proposed to the Metro-East Sanitary District in a meeting here Monday.

The 200-acre area is located between the two

Black Lanes and would involve an agreement that still must be approved by the district.

Miss Judy Faulkner of Springfield, Ill., a representative of the Department of Conservation outlined the plan in Monday's meeting and presented a slide demonstration of the area.

The agreement will be prepared by the Department of Conservation and presented later to the district.

The board of trustees also voted Monday to sue or garnish William and Joseph Radman of Madison for sewer fees allegedly owed the district for properties owned by the Radmans. The board said action will be taken if the fees are not paid within ten days. Walter "Shang" Greathouse, board president, presented a letter from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in which it was suggested the district give to Cahokia the main sewer trunk line which is in disrepair for an improvement project. The cost of replacing the line is estimated at $15 million. Board members suggested that it is impossible to merely repair the line which is broken in several places because high river stages would result in similar damage. No definite action was taken. The board approved plans for the Wilson Park Estates and Lueders Estates, but let it to the city of Granite City to work out drainage matters.

Enrollment for Medicare in January

People who failed to sign up for medical insurance under Medicare, or who once had this protection but dropped it, will have a chance to obtain medical insurance during the 1981 general enrollment period, January through March.

Protection for people who sign up during the general enrollment period will start July 1, 1981.

Medical insurance is that part of Medicare which helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital services, and many other medical items and services not covered under hospital insurance.

Medical insurance premiums are presently $9.60 per month. Medicare is available to all Social Security recipients at age 65.

The recipients have the option of accepting or declining medical insurance. People who decline at age 65 must wait until the next general enrollment period to enroll.

Premiums are increased ten percent for each full year a person could have had protection but did not.

The Social Security Administration is urging people to carefully consider the consequences of declining Medicare protection.

A "Medicare Handbook" is available at each Social Security office. This booklet explains deductibles and services covered by Medicare.

To obtain a free copy of the "Medicare Handbook" or to file for Medicare, Quad-Cityans may telephone the Social Security office at 274-4100, toll free, by asking the operator for Enterprise 3-555.

How to compare food processors

By CATHERINE MAUCK

Home Economics Adviser
If your letter to Santa this year is topped with a hint for a food processor, you may want to consider giving the jolly old elf a hand by also hinting about the exact model you'd like so neither you nor Santa is disappointed later.

Food processors have been available to the American public since 1973, and today a wide variety of these appliances are stocked by retailers.

The processors consist of several basic components — a motor base with a shaft connected to the motor, a work bowl, blades or discs, and a bowl cover and food pusher — that can be compared when trying to select one model or type over another.

All food processors slice, chop, grate, shred, beat, blend, knead, puree and emulsify.

But they do not beat egg whites to high volume, whip cream to a thick and fluffy consistency, slice or shred some soft cheeses, grind coffee beans, liquefy fruits and vegetables, or crush ice.

With that in mind, you can start looking at some of the differences between models to determine which is best for you.

First, consider what type of appliance base would best suit your storage space.
Food processors come with two types of bases: direct drive and belt drive.

Models with a direct drive system are usually taller because the blade or disc sits directly on top of the motor base. But they are more compact in terms of width (depth).

Belt drive models usually are shorter but wider at the base than direct drive types.
Then, consider the bowl that comes with the processor. Some are made with handles; others have openings at their centers for blades or discs, and some are larger than others.

When comparing models, keep in mind the quantity of food you most often will be processing and the importance of having a bowl with a handle.

The number of blades or discs used to perform various processing tasks also should be compared.
Some models provide a separate disc for each task while others incorporate several processing functions into one disc. Make a decision based on your own preference.

In addition, there are a number of other features that some models have and others don't that you may want to keep in mind when making a choice between processors. They include:
—A coverlock mechanism that prevents the appliance from operating — even when turned on — until the cover is tightly in place.
—A pulsing action, setting that allows quick on-off action without requiring the regular on-off control to be switched manually. Pulsing action allows greater control in performing many processing functions.
—Automatic overload protection, a safety feature that relies on a thermostatic control to shut the motor off if it overheats during a long or heavy processing task.

—The extent or length of the warranty, which may only cover the base for some models or, for others, the base, blades and discs. Also note the length of time the warranty is in effect and the availability of service.

—The availability of accessories, which may include storage units for blades, rubber scrapers, funnels and accessory bowls.
Extra slicing discs also are available for some models, as are citrus juice and vegetable juice extractor attachments, whipping attachments, mayonnaisemaking attachments and plastic dough blades for large-quantity kneading.

The prices of food processors may be as varied as the features they include.
Many people wonder if they should buy the most expensive model — or the least-expensive, most basic type.

Often the quality and type of materials used in the motor base affect the price.
Those with heavier bases made of metal parts will be more expensive than lighter-weight models that have more plastic parts.

Less-expensive models with lightweight bases tend to vibrate more during operation and "walk" or move when in use. Some lightweight models are made with suction-cup or rubber feet that help alleviate vibration problems.

The type of motor also affects the amount of noise that will be produced during use.

Before you make a final decision, listen to and watch the models you're interested in buying while they are in operation, to make sure the noise level is acceptable and the vibration or moving won't cause problems later.

Pvt. Michael Buckingham is on recruiting duty here

Private Michael Buckingham of Granite City has an Army assignment right in his home town. For the next 30 days, he will work as a recruiter aide at the Army recruiting station at 3675 Nameoki Road in Granite City, where he enlisted.

Pvt. Buckingham will assist the Army recruiters in Granite City by linking them with the young people of the area. He will talk about his Army experiences with interested seniors at area high schools, including Granite City High School North, where he graduated in 1977, and where he was involved in golf and athletic training. Pvt. Buckingham is the son of Michael and Flo Buckingham of Granite City.

Why did Pvt. Buckingham join the Army? "I wanted to learn a challenging field," he explains, "and see new places."

The recruiter aide undertook one station unit training at Ft. Benning, Ga. He trained as a heavy antiarmor weapons crewman and will serve at Ft. Hood, Tex., after he completes his Granite City assignment. Both the skill training and the assignment location were picked by Pvt. Buckingham and guaranteed to him in writing by the Army when he enlisted.

Pvt. Buckingham received a $3,000 cash bonus when he successfully completed training in his specialty. The Army pays cash bonuses of up to $4,000 to qualified enlistees entering a number of challenging fields.

It was at Ft. Benning that Pvt. Buckingham was approved for recruiter aide duty. The program is highly competitive, and selection reflects outstanding ability.

Pvt. Buckingham is on hand at the Granite City Army Recruiting Station to talk with interested young people about his experiences as a recent Army enlistee. He and the recruiters will be glad to discuss the skill training, educational aid, travel options, cash bonuses, and many other benefits the Army offers. They can be called at 876-5950.

Blood drive tomorrow

A public blood drive will be held Friday, Dec. 19, from 8 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. under Red Cross sponsorship.

Location will be St. Elizabeth Medical Center in the Wiseman Room, which is on the first floor (one floor above the ground floor).

There is a special need during the December holiday season for blood in this metropolitan area, officials report.

They are urging local residents and employees to contribute blood tomorrow.

Contemporary holiday cantata here Sunday

The Tri-City Park Tabernacle Choir will give two performances of a contemporary Christmas cantata, "Specialty for Shepherds," Sunday evening at 7 and 9.

The Tabernacle choir will fully dramatize the Christmas musical with a cast of 40, under the direction of Lonnie Manning and Ron Pennell. Featured singing roles will be "Joseph and Mary" performed by Phil and Tracy Green; "Elizabeth" by Naomi Thomas; and

"Gabriel" sung by Pastor Manning, former music teacher at the PTL Club's Heritage University. In the music of different styles to portray "Specialty for Shepherds,"

Ralph Carmichael uses the story of the Advent of Jesus. The music moves from classical to jazz rock as the mood changes in the story. The church is at Maryville Road and Clark Avenue.

Cook named to UW labor post

George Cook, a 30-year retiree from Granite City Steel, has been appointed as the new AFL-CIO Community Services representative of the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

The announcement was made jointly by the Tri-Cities Trades and Labor Council and the United Way.

Cook replaces Larry Miller who is now the first Labor-Madison County CETA Program liaison officer.

He and his wife, Helen, live at 3111 Colgate Place and have five children. The couple also has one granddaughter.

"Through the channels of labor and social agencies," Cook said, "I will develop programs that meet the welfare, health and recreational needs of the community."

City funds for trees

There should be a $1,000 bill on Granite City's next bill list which should make members of the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society very happy when that bill list is approved.

The Granite City Council Tuesday night agreed to put the $1,000 for next Tuesday's bill list for next Tuesday's meeting to purchase trees which DNRs members will install in the restoration area, defined as between State and Adams streets and Niedringhaus Avenue to 24th Street.

Nine trees planted by society members were "chopped down" by vandals recently and aldermen were told the trees cost from $18 to $30 to replace, not counting the labor to plant them.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward said the city has carried $3,500 in the budget for several years for planting trees in the city and he believes some of that money should be used to help the restoration society's tree-planting program.

Whitmer showed a professional plan for trees which would provide various colors at different times of the year and would beautify the restoration area, and said he feels it would be "a good plan to expand throughout the city."

He also said of the DNRs members, "These are wonderful people who are taking enough energy and pride to replace the trees coming down around here."

"When we first balked at the $3,500 for trees, I contacted several great garden clubs and they felt it was too big of a job to take on. These people (DNRs) have taken on with this and I think it's good."

Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward agreed and said the council should seek a similar group willing to plant trees in the East Granite area. "The trees might accept some of the pollution and at least shield people from it," Douglas contended.

Whitmer said he found only one thing wrong with the professionally-prepared plan for tree plantings in the restoration area. "There are no pin oaks, and those are my favorite trees," he concluded.

GREEN STICKERS

Green 1981 license plates stickers should be displayed on all passenger cars, motorcycles and mopeds by midnight Dec. 31, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon has reminded Illinois motorists. Those who do not have a pre-printed renewal application may call the secretary's toll-free telephone number (800-252-8080).

Penny hike in school tax rate

Taxes—we "can't live with them, and can't live without them."

Granite City School District voters showed in a special election this fall that they don't like taxes, especially those they can avoid. Funding for building maintenance projects was rejected by a wide margin.

But basic school taxes will continue, and the Board of Education set them at $7,346,600 on Tuesday night.

The levy extension is for the 1980 tax year, with collection over a penny per $100 assessed valuation.

The new tax levy total, $7,346,600, compares to $6,292,554 extended for the 1979 tax year (old tax valuation).

The new levies and old tax extensions are: education $5,346,600 ($4,777,021 a year ago); operation, building fund and maintenance $817,000 ($702,503);

Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund $350,000 ($200,447);

Transportation $261,600 ($224,801);

Tort immunity $200,000 ($200,447).

Life Safety Code building improvements $109,000 ($93,667).

And the working cash fund, also $109,000 ($93,667). The $6,292,554 extended a year ago was based on tax levies of $6,572,000. The 1979 equized assessed valuation proved to be $187,334,170.

Tax rates based on each $100 of assessment are expected to total $3.37, up 1.1 cent from $3.359, assuming an assessment of $218 million (up 16.3 percent).

Three of the new rates are projected as matching those of last year—12 cents for transportation, five cents for life safety and five cents for working cash.

The other 1980 tax rate estimates are $2,529 for education, down 2.71 cents from $2.55; 37.48 cents for operations, building and maintenance, down 0.02 cent from 37.5; 16.06 cents for municipal retirement, up 0.36 cents from 15.7; and 9.17 cents for tort immunity, down 1.53 cent from 10.7.

Curtis R. McDaniel, director of business affairs, noted the new rate estimate of $3.37 is 41 cents below the $3.78 rate of two years ago. The 1978 rate included construction bonds and interest; since then, all bond debt has been retired.

Suburban Baptist nativity scene

A live nativity scene, featuring live animals, costumed people and music, will be on public display beginning tomorrow night at Suburban Baptist Church, Maryville Road and St. Clair Avenue.

The nativity scene will be presented nightly through Tuesday, Dec. 23, from 7 to 9 p.m. A spokesman for the church is encouraging area residents to view the scene, designed to help everyone achieve a religious and festive mood during the Christmas season.

Gospel Mission party

A Christmas breakfast will be served early Sunday morning, Dec. 21 at 7:30 o'clock for the beginning of our Christmas program at the Gospel Mission, 2014 E. 20th St., which has been decorated for the season by the ladies, men and the high school class of the Sunday school.

A Christmas program will highlight the services Sunday evening, Dec. 21, at the Gospel Mission. (Parking in the rear). Every class of the Sunday school will be represented with each teacher presenting the class.

Special music by the Mission Choir and the congregation in singing of the familiar Christmas songs.

Dr. George A. Rosenthal, of the Edgemont Bible Church, Fairview Heights, will present the closing meditation.

To conclude the program, holiday treats will be given to all present, according to Mrs. Bethel J. Davis, session superintendent.

The public is invited to join the congregation at all services. Tuesday morning, the usual Christmas baskets will be delivered by the men of the adult class. The baskets were filled by members of the Sunday school.

Special music at Dewey Ave. church here

The choirs of the Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church, 2136 Dewey Ave., will offer special programs this Sunday, Dec. 7 p.m.

The Cherub choir will present the musical pageant "In Bethlehem" and the adult choir will present the cantata, "The Night the Angels Sang."

Mrs. Walter Harrison is the choir director and the Rev. Ray Kelly is the pastor. The church will hold an 11 p.m. Holy Communion service on Wednesday, Dec. 24.

Expand gifted classes to jr. high students

Expansion of the gifted student program to seventh and eighth graders in Granite City was authorized Tuesday night. The School Board approved the concept, and the specific structure will be developed during the spring semester.

Mrs. Merna Musterman, gifted program coordinator, said, "To meet the special needs of gifted students in our three junior high schools, a committee composed of curriculum coordinator Warren Collins, principals and representatives from the junior and senior high schools, Raymond Griner, director of the State Area Service Center for Gifted and Talented Youth, and myself met a number of times.

"The plan is to serve the top five percent of our students who are gifted in specific academic areas.

"Our objective is to offer a differentiated, meaningful educational program in the least disruptive and most cost-efficient way.

"Present philosophy of gifted-education, as supported by valid research, contends that for students of high ability to realize their potential, they must necessarily be methodically taught to use their capabilities in higher-level thought processes.

"This suggests that curriculum must be deliberately planned and available to those who are so abled.

"Ability grouping is practical and is already partially accomplished by our existing tracking system. Since our target group is but five percent of the total district population, class size would be insufficient for the grouping of these identified gifted students.

"It is believed these students should be enrolled in the same section of language arts and/or mathematics as far as possible. This would allow interaction with one another and facilitate the teachers planning more appropriate levels of instruction.

"In addition to these identified students being served regularly in math and language arts, a daily half-hour elective will be offered, entitled 'Idea Lab.' This additional course will be designed for gifted students. It will be academic in nature, and its continuity will span a two-year period (7th and 8th grades).

"One instructor each semester at every school will be assigned a full class period, with time being evenly split between the two grade levels.

"The content of the course will be of an enrichment nature in a variety of disciplines, with primary concentration on the processes of critical thinking and problem solving skills.

"While prudent scheduling is likely to accommodate the availability of a teacher for this one period, it is quite possible that a 'sixth hour' assignment may be necessary at times. In any case, additional employees will not be necessary.

"The essence of success depends on the selection of the specific teachers. These must necessarily be highly competent and be particularly interested in such a commitment that implies an opportunity and obligation to be involved in ongoing in-service training. Such an assignment will be challenging, demanding and highly rewarding," she concluded.

Effective date of the program will be September 1981.

For the first time, junior high class scheduling is being computerized. Starting in early January, counselors will meet with current sixth graders to help outline their fall classes. The "idea lab" will be among the electives discussed at that time.

Special course at BAC on death and dying

A two-hour course (32 contact hours) is offered by Belleville Area College from Jan. 13, to May 12, 1981, inclusive. The course is directed toward persons, professional or non-professional, who wish to better understand death and dying in order to assist and support others and to accept the reality of their own death.

The course is approved by Illinois Nursing Association, National Federation of LPNs and the Department of Public Health of Illinois. It will be taught at BAC Center - Programs and Services for Older Persons, 201 North Church St., Tuesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning Jan. 13.

Cost is $32. Registration will be at 6 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 13, at 201 North Church St. All checks must be written to Belleville Area College. If institutions pay the tuition, checks must be received the first night of class. Anyone 60 years of age or over has reduced tuition, $4 for the course.

For further information Quad-Cityans may call the instructor, Sr. Mary Simpson, M.Ed., 234-4410. Since only 30 persons will be accepted in the class, interested persons are asked to call in advance.

Missionary circles learn about Africa

Refund on school milk

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

After a long discussion Tuesday night, the Granite City Board of Education voted 4-1 to accept a $439 reimbursement from Reeb's Dairy, the school district's 1980-81 milk supplier, denying that student milk cartons contained less than eight ounces, the vendor offered to compensate the district for $175 spent in testing milk cartons for 8.12 ounces, in both instances more than the eight ounces necessary to meet bid specifications.

Davis said he will warn the supplier that periodic state testing will continue. Board Member David Partney, a frequent critic of the milk vendor, voted against the reimbursement plan after, earlier Tuesday evening, voicing a motion that the school district halt all milk purchases from Reeb's and seek new bids. That motion died for lack of a second.

Partney said he believes a case could be made for a larger reimbursement than that agreed upon.

While not identifying any specific firms, a school administrator told the board Tuesday night that a former local area supplier has been warned about allegedly insufficient milk quantities elsewhere.

Because of the potentially severe penalties against dairies, once they are warned they usually take extraordinary steps to assure compliance, a discussion brought out.

Supt. Davis related that he had "inquired of the Illinois Department of Agriculture as to what steps they take when they find a dairy short in its content." They replied that they give the dairy 30 days' notice in which to correct the deficiency. Should it not be corrected, then they place the dairy on a probationary status. A third incident would lead to further and more drastic actions.

The board agreed with his proposal to continue utilizing the state to make random tests of milk. When requested by a school district, the agriculture staff will respond within several days to conduct unannounced sampling, Davis noted.

Partney said he would have preferred reimbursements of $668 for September and $615 for October. He was critical of the supplying of milk shake mix, higher price initially than the price quoted in a later competitive bid for the mix.

He later mentioned a combined figure of $4,201.

When Partney said there had been an apparent feedback Reeb's of test information, Supt. Davis interrupted him to say there had been no contacts other than the proper contacts outlined in a detailed report prepared by the administrative staff.

A discussion then indicated that newspaper articles about school milk were an obvious indication to dairies to begin tightening up their production control procedures, with no "tip-off" needed.

Partney emphasized to fellow board members, "I don't feel we should have any more business with them."

As the board studied test data, it was brought out that each ounce of milk contains eight fluid drams.

School Attorney William Schooley said there are some conceivable situations in which a school district could cancel a major supply contract. But the limited extent of any problem verified by the state raises a question of how a judge or jury would react, he added.

Board members said a typical supplier might seek reimbursement for the volume of business withdrawn from it. Partney said he was aware that air in milk lines could displace the milk, creating an exact quantity in each carton, but commented that he still felt a serious problem had been pinpointed by his study of school milk.

Board Member Robert Maxwell voiced fear that federal lunch reimbursements might be jeopardized.

When the motion to cancel the present contract failed to obtain a second, Board Member George Moore said the reimbursement proposal should be considered. Supt. Davis said he knew of no other remedy but was receptive to suggestions.

Board Member Monroe Worthen favored warning the milk vendor of future testing, but said excessive pressure on suppliers could lead to fewer bids, ultimately raising school costs through lack of competition. He urged "checks and balances" but not "cutting off our nose to spite our face."

Supt. Davis said a "quality control" program could be set up if the associated costs were determined to be justified.

Partney said he is concerned that there may be inadequate comparisons of quality or size when the school district evaluates price bids, such as for tomatoes or other canned food items. He suggested specifying three or four specific brands.

Davis said extensive sampling and tasting takes place when bids are being compared.

Worthen said that ruling out certain brands of food could lead to justified complaints by businesses that "the school people are cutting us out of a chance to bid."

Partney said bid comparisons on tomato paste could be deceptive if one proposal involved thick paste and another offer was for watery paste.

"You're ignoring what has happened in the schools," Worthen contended in defending the comprehensive nature of product testing developed by the Granite City district over a period of years.

"My understanding is that supplies are tested, and that recommendations on vendors take into account the best, lowest, responsible bids," Worthen emphasized. "Both quality and price are considered."

Supt. Davis cited Tuesday night's purchase of French fried potatoes and said they had been checked for taste, appearance and grease.

He added that differing grades of food take into account, for example, "long beans, medium beans and little bitty beans." He said bidding specifications are being improved so that it will be easier for administrators and board members to compare unit costs.

Maxwell said costly testing should be avoided but that, when a potential problem comes to light, it should be pursued and resolved.

The attorney reviewed legal aspects of bidding and contracts, and said the board has an obligation to take some type of positive and prompt action on the question of school milk.

Davis called attention to the proposed series of actions he had spelled out in the board meeting agenda. "We'll put them on notice," he pledged.

Further discussion brought out that automatic allocation of milk shake mix purchases to milk vendors dated back to 1970 or earlier, and originally was linked to gradual payment by the school system for related mechanical equipment.

Davis said there was no way of determining how shake mix prices during past years might have changed if there had been specific bidding on the mix.

Maxwell urged that, in accepting the milk test reimbursement, the district avoid any waiver of rights.

Board Member George Moore said that state tests so far provide an insufficient basis to cancel the milk contract. If future problems re-verified, a stronger basis would be provided, he related.

Worthen cautioned against the district gaining an image for awarding contracts and then "hanging the suppliers out to dry."

Board Member Thomas Miesky said he was in general agreement with Worthen's advice, adding that the school system is fully justified in holding all suppliers accountable to bidding specifications.

A written report by Supt. Davis to the board Tuesday night related that "at the last meeting, the board requested the administration to pull samples of our milk from Reeb's Dairy and from our former supplier, Prairie Farms, and have the samples analyzed for fluid content."

"We pulled 64 cartons of fluid, equaling one percent of our daily use, from each of the two sources. Based on the test, we found the average of white milk from Prairie Farms was 8.02 ounces and the chocolate was 8.02 ounces."

"Samples pulled for milk being delivered to Granite City schools averaged out to be 7.64 ounces for chocolate and 7.63 ounces for white."

"Malt samples from each dairy met the fluid requirements," the superintendent related.

"I discussed these results with our attorney and asked what course of action we should follow. He recommended we have two additional testings of milk being delivered to our schools. That was done Dec. 4 and Dec. 9."

"In the meantime, I had contacted the Illinois Department of Agriculture in Springfield and requested that they run tests on milk being delivered to the school district. They came down on Dec. 10 and ran tests on samples of white and 10 chocolate, which they indicated were their normal sampling."

"They found no cartons containing less than eight ounces, and 15 cartons containing in excess of eight ounces."

"They also informed me that the type of problems we are experiencing have been showing up in other parts of the state. They specifically mentioned problems at Quincy and Carlinville."

Davis continued, "I asked them how volume of milk is determined at dairies during the time of packaging. They informed me it was done on a timing method, and when cartons show up with less than eight ounces in a half-pint, it is normally due to air getting into the milk lines. The air takes up space and, when the milk is placed in the carton, the timing device cuts it off whether milk or air enters the carton."

"I further inquired of the Ill. Agriculture Department as to what steps they take when they find a dairy short in its content. They replied that they give 30 days' notice in which to correct the deficiency."

"Should it not be corrected, then they place the dairy on a probationary status. A third incident would lead to further and more drastic actions."

"The results are, now available relative to the tests we secured on the volume of milk in half-pint cartons served in the various school cafeterias."

"Following are the averages of the three tests conducted by Scientific Associates, Inc., St. Louis, and the Ill. Department of Agriculture."

"Nov. 19; Test 1. Averages per carton, 7.63 ounces white and 7.64 chocolate."

"Nov. 26; Test 2. 7.97 white and 7.93 chocolate."

"Dec. 2; Test 3. 7.92 white and 8.19 chocolate."

"Dec. 10; Ill. Department of Agriculture. 8.04 white and 8.13 chocolate."

chocolate.

"Total averages, 7.89 (-.11 ounce) white milk and 7.97 (-.03 ounce) chocolate milk."

"Based on this information, the administration computed the average loss per carton against the cost of our milk bid and obtained the following results, based on the school year through November:

"Total white half-pints, 91,995, times .11 ounces equals 10,119.45 ounces. Divided by eight ounces, 1,264.93 pints. Times the bid price of 12.25 cents, $142.30 loss based on the average carton per test."

"Total chocolate half-pints, 245,905, times .03 ounces equals 7,377.15 ounces. Divided by eight, 922.14 half-pints. Times the bid price of 12.25 cents, $116.65 loss."

"The $142.30 and $116.65 total $258.95, and the cost to the district of running the tests was $175. If this is added to the other costs, the loss becomes $433.95. This equates out to 0.12 cent ($0.0012) per carton served."

"If the loss is figured on loss against purchased amount, it represents a small percentage—92.21 half-pints of chocolate and 1,264.93 of white milk, a total of 2,187.07 half-pints based on average loss."

"Compared to the 337,900 half-pints purchased, the 2,187.07 represent .64 of 1 percent."

"As instructed by the board, we also had pre-mix milk solens tested. The average for that which was tested was 64.35 ounces for chocolate and 64.15 for vanilla."

"Since these were above the required 64 ounces, we ran no more tests on the malt."

"With the figures received, I contacted Reeb's Dairy to inquire if they would compensate the school district $433.95 for the loss and assure the district that the averages of milk delivered will equal at least eight ounces."

"I have since received a call from Reeb's indicating they officially recognize the test conducted by the Ill. Department of Agriculture and, therefore, believe there were no shortages verified, however, in keeping with good will they would remit a check to the district for $433.95 and assure the district that the quantity of milk delivered will meet specifications."

"I informed Reeb's that I would report this to the board with the understanding that, if it were acceptable, we would have the periodic tests performed in the future."

"The Ill. Department of Agriculture has indicated its willingness to check the product upon proper notification by the district," the report by Supt. Davis concluded.

GC revenue sharing

contact city officials to discuss the issue in the near future.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the council he is aware that a handicapped individual, restricted to a wheelchair, had filed a complaint with the revenue sharing office and said that City Attorney John Papa has been working on the issue.

Schuler said he did not wish to have a public discussion of the issue on the council floor and asked aldermen who have questioned the matter to contact Papa personally for more details.

Alderman Lloyd Bailey said he has been aware for some time that many handicapped persons are unable to attend city council meetings and has been attempting to find a solution.

Bailey said that Nelson Hagnauer, supervisor of Granite City Township, has agreed to let the city use the one-floor township center at 2000 Delmar Ave., for council meetings.

"Mayor Schuler responded, 'There is no reason we can't use it for one meeting a month or so. I think some important meetings, say once a month, (in the township building) would be in order.'"

Last month, several wheelchair-bound city residents attended the city council meeting and picketed with signs in front of the city hall before the meeting, protesting that they were excluded from attending.

At that time, the council discussed holding one meeting a month in the township building, but no official action was taken and subsequent meetings have all been in the city hall.

manager of Foreign Trade Zone 31.

"We are pleased with the Foreign Trade Zone Board's approval of this site," Nazetta said.

"It will allow business and industry in the St. Louis metropolitan area to take advantage now of the additional benefits provided by using a foreign trade zone."

"Companies involved in international trade may find that using the trade zone to store, inspect, light manufacture, exhibit and distribute their products can result in substantial cash flow, insurance and tax savings."

"We welcome this opportunity to work with this region's business and industry in exploring their use of the foreign trade zone."

"We look forward to resuming conversations with prospective users who have, in the past, expressed interest in using the zone," Nazetta concluded.

A major new trade building has been designed for the FTZ tract at the Port, but financing plans for the structure remain incomplete.

Family services and family policy

(This is the fourteenth in a series of 15 articles exploring "American families in Transition." In this article, Catherine S. Chilman of the School of Social Welfare at the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, discusses how government programs can help meet families' needs. Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

By CATHERINE S. CHILMAN

Although there is widespread agreement that many American families are in trouble, there is little consensus about what should be done to help them.

Those who argue against programs for families often fear an invasion of family privacy.

But it is possible and important to design policies that make help available to families, if they wish to use that help, without necessarily intruding in their private lives.

Such measures are quite different from programs that seek to control the behavior of families.

The latter approach, often popularly misnamed family policy, would certainly be inappropriate and probably unworkable in American society, except for flagrantly dangerous family behaviors, such as child or spouse abuse.

The well-being of families can best be advanced through a variety of means including:

— Educational and counseling programs made available to family members to help them deal more effectively with one another.

— Service programs such as those that treat physical or mental illness and those that provide child care for employed parents.

— Income maintenance and tax relief programs that support the economic security of families.

— Employment policies that include provisions for part-time work, flexitime, maternity and paternity leave, affirmative action to reduce sexism and racism, job training, and provisions of public jobs when the private sector cannot meet employment needs of the population.

— Housing and community planning that assures adequate shelter and healthful neighborhoods for all families regardless of race or income.

— Public education that provides a variety of lifelong learning and development for all people from early childhood through age.

SUPPORTIVE POLICIES. In general, then, it is more useful to think of policies that provide a variety of supports for family well-being rather than specific family policies, per se.

But why should family supportive policies be so numerous and wide ranging? The answer is found in the nature of families as small groups interacting with a larger society.

The well-being of families is a product of two major factors: (a) those in the outside world such as employment, income, prices, energy supplies, housing, transportation, health services, and schools; and (b) factors within the family, such as its size, structure, stage, and development.

Should further efforts be made to force the fathers of these children to support them? (Such efforts are often expensive and not very successful.)

Should legislation be passed that requires higher wages for single mothers? Should matters be left as they are, with the assumption that children over the age of six can care for themselves while their mothers are working?

As this example shows, policy problems regarding the family are enormously complex and potentially costly.

Isn't it, then, too expensive and difficult to devise the large cluster of programs that seem to be needed? The task is not so impossible as it may appear.

Pieces of many of the recommended programs are already in place: the Social Security system, including Medicaid and Medicare, partial programs of family life education and counseling that are privately and publicly supported in many communities; some (but not enough) government-subsidized housing for low-income families; public education programs (though somewhat limited) from preschool through state university systems, and so on.

In brief, we have come a long way in the past forty years in providing family assistance programs.

We have developed human services addressed to the internal needs of families. And we have brought some needed changes in large environmental systems that strongly affect family functioning, but we still have quite a distance to go.

So-called family impact analysis, which would assess the effects of federal legislation on families, is one needed approach.

For example, the federal income tax tends to penalize married couples when both partners work — thus discouraging marriage.

Such analysis should be part of a larger strategy that not only reacts to government proposals, but is also proactive, that is, analyzes families' needs and plans to meet those needs.

PRIVATE AND PUBLIC RESPONSIBILITIES. Families, however, must also help themselves.

The history of the early 1980s includes the rediscovery of the importance and "irrevocability" of families after the individualism and "personal liberation" of the 1970s.

Along with this rediscovery must go an awareness that families rest on the foundation of mutual responsibility, of giving as well as getting, of fostering the growth of others as well as the self.

Attitudes and values of these kinds cannot be forced upon families by public policies.

Nor can we demand that people be denied a license for marriage or, as some would wish it, for parenthood unless they have the "correct" knowledge and beliefs.

We cannot effectively regulate the behavior of the large number of family members, because family functioning is enormously complex — and because families in a free society have basic rights to personal privacy and self-determination.

But just as family members have responsibilities to themselves and each other, so does the larger society have responsibilities toward its families.

These responsibilities are numerous and complex, especially in a large heterogeneous society such as the United States — a society whose citizens tend to be individualistic rather than family-oriented.

Citizens are suspicious of any kind of government program — especially if the program is federal — resistant to paying taxes to support public services, inclined to look for simple, single solutions to intricate, multifaceted human problems.

Further development and support of public programs to aid families depends on the enlightened and generous will of the electorate.

It is far from clear in these days of confusion and disenchantment that this kind of public will is present.

It is not, it seems likely that many of the nation's families — especially those low-income families that bear the double burdens of poverty and racism — will suffer further disorganization, conflict, and despair.

Psychiatrist gives tips on holiday gifts for children

"What to buy the kids for Christmas?" can become a frantic question as the shopping days tick away.

"Parents should choose gifts that make children feel good about themselves," advises psychiatrist Elva Pozanski, M.D., who heads the Youth Affective Disorders Clinic at the University of Illinois at the Medical Center, Chicago.

"It isn't wise to give a gift that underscores a child's weak points," says Pozanski. "For example, if your child is a poor speller, don't give a dictionary."

"Parents may assume that their children will not have a good holiday unless they get everything on their gift lists, but buying each item they have requested may be next to impossible with today's inflated prices."

"Don't worry," advises Pozanski. "Despite the commercialization of the holidays, gifts are not central to the Christmas spirit, and children are not likely to be seriously disappointed if parents do not buy them everything they want."

"Most kids have a Christmas 'wish list' that is utterly out of line with reality," says Pozanski. "But they don't usually expect to receive everything they ask for."

"Kids understand that things cost more these days and that the family has to watch its spending. That kind of everyday reality is good for children to know."

"I have yet to see a kid depressed because he or she did not receive a particular gift," adds Pozanski, who specializes in the study of depression in children. "But I have seen holiday depression because of family problems."

"Kids can become 'blue' during the holidays for the same reasons adults do."

"Christmas is traditionally a family time. Department store display windows and television all emphasize family sharing. Many families travel long distances to be together for the holidays."

"It's a season when children, adolescents and adults are more likely to feel the discrepancy between their own family relationships and what they have been led to believe is the ideal.

"Affectionate relationships make up the holiday spirit, and material gifts are no substitute for them."

"Gifts can be emotionally important to children under certain family circumstances, such as divorce."

"Forty percent of American families are affected by divorce," she says. "I find it's often important for parents who don't live with their children to remember them with a gift, because if they don't, it can symbolize the parent forgetting the child."

She also cautions that in divorced families the parent who doesn't have custody may have a higher income and be able to send expensive gifts.

The child, she explains, is not likely to be sensitive to the difference in the "worth" of his parent's gifts, but the other parent often is.

"If divorced parents could just talk over gift-giving beforehand, especially major purchases, it would save a lot of hurt feelings," she concludes.

Santa Claus highlights downtown stores' party for children

An estimated 350 youngsters hosted by downtown Granite City merchants on Saturday morning brought their parents along and nearly filled the Washington Theater auditorium for the occasion, a pre-Christmas luncheon.

Another event at the party was choral music by the Job's Daughters.

Magician George Van Dyke (photograph at the right) next mystified the gathering with an assortment of tricks and illusions.

But the high point of the party occurred when Santa Claus (top picture) walked down an aisle of the theater, waving his arms in greeting to his young fans, and then sat down at the front of the auditorium. There, he listened to the tots' Christmas wishes and gave out a big stack of holiday gifts.

It was a highly enjoyable way to spend the morning hours, the audience showed in its enthusiastic response to the activities.

The Granite City Park District will be accepting applications for summer employment on Monday, Dec. 29, and Tuesday, Dec. 30, from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at the Wilson Park office.

Positions to be filled include lifeguards, bathhouse attendants, concession stand attendants, recreation leaders, recreation aides, park police, ball diamond maintenance workers, general maintenance workers, flower garden attendants, tennis instructors, baseball and softball and baseball programs.

Persons interested in being lifeguards must possess a valid senior lifesaving card and present it when applying.

Applicants must be 16 years of age by May 1, 1981, and must reside within the boundaries of the park district.

Air security unit planned

The Air Force said this week it is looking for outstanding young men and women from Illinois and northern Indiana to form a special unit of Air Force security specialists.

The unit will be called the "Great Lakes Centurion Flight" and will begin training in San Antonio, Texas, in March, according to Lt. Col. Boyce W. Wittrout, area Air Force recruiting commander.

He explains that the unit will be sworn in as a group and remain together for the first 12 weeks of military service. After this period of military and security training, flight members will be assigned to Air Force installations throughout the country and around the world to guard, defend and protect personnel, equipment and facilities.

"We only want top-notch people. They can represent this area and do an important job for their country," he said.

Ethnic yule tree displayed at bank; highlights Africa

For the fourth year an ethnic Christmas tree is on display in Madison.

Hand-made ornaments and African beads highlight the African American Christmas tree currently on display in the lobby of the First National Bank in Madison.

The colors of the felt ornaments, stylized African animal forms, bells and angels, reflect the colors in the various flags of African countries.

The beads and other hand-made jewelry symbolize the importance of the arts and crafts in the daily lives of the African people.

The green and red bulbs reflect the blending of western traditions with African cultures in the ethnic heritage of Black American.

The designs and the research for the tree were contributed by Society of Ethnic and Special Studies (SESS) members, Mrs. Fan C. McCollum, instructor of Afro-American literature and director of Student Services at SIU-East St. Louis.

Louis Campus, and Mrs. Wilma Clifton, executive director of the O'Fallon, Illinois Arts Council.

Beads were donated by Philip Anala, a native of Ghana and instructor of English and African literature, SIU-East St. Louis.

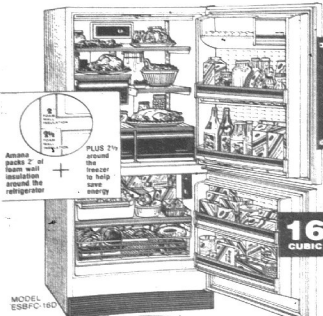

SESS members who assisted in decorating the tree were Dr. Emil Jason, national president, Dr. Amos Coffield, local president, Dr. Lula Lockett, national corresponding secretary, all of SESS, Luella Hawkins, and Jerry Collier.

Mrs. Barbara Madison of the Madison County Urban League was responsible for the coordination of the project.

Post 102 will deliver baskets

Explorer Post 102, sponsored by Suburban Baptist Church as a community service project, will distribute Christmas packages to residents of Anchorage Homes.

Carole Mitchell, activity chairman, is organizing distribution of the packages to the 300 apartments on Saturday evening Dec. 20.

While one group of Explorers distribute the packages door to door, another group will be singing Christmas carols.

Many local businesses are cooperating by donating various items to be put in the packages.

The post is providing assorted fruit.

Upon completion of the project the Explorers will meet at the home of Jack Taylor for a Christmas party.

Among the members of Post 102 working on preparing the baskets were: Jack Taylor, Nick Tsigalaroff, Paul Phillip, Carole Mitchell, Charles Shane, Chris Hahn, Bob Moske, Ellen Sanders, Frances Shane and Carole Busch, in addition to Bob and Jean Beckard advisers.

Hearing on state funding of schools

"Representing a response to real needs at the local level," Illinois Education Supt. Donald G. Gill says, "an $185 million increase in state funds for schools is a responsible budget which considers the projected economic condition of the state."

The State Board of Education will hold a public hearing Jan. 13 in Springfield on the new superintendent's proposed budget before making a final recommendation to the General Assembly in the spring.

Dr. Gill has recommended a $2.9 billion budget for Illinois schools in 1981-82. His proposal includes about $2.4 billion in state funds and $477 million in federal funds.

The major share (58.1 percent) of the new funding would go for general state aid, thereby enhancing local control, according to Dr. Gill.

Of the $2.9 billion, the superintendent's recommended appropriation for general aid is $1.603 billion, an increase of almost $108 million (7.2 percent).

With that appropriation, the present per-pupil guarantee support level of $1,464 would be increased to $1,606.

"Increasing funds for the general state aid appropriation can enhance the State Board's efforts toward maintaining local flexibility and discretion in allocating funds for educational needs," Dr. Gill believes.

"While the budget also reflects a need for support of categorical programs, many school officials across the state have testified that they prefer that funds be increased for general aid."

Under his recommended budget, categorical programs with statutory funding formulas would receive a $45 million increase (14.9 percent). Some pro-ration of reimbursements to districts would still be necessary.

The recommended increase for categorical programs without statutory funding formulas is $3.9 million (five percent) over 1980-81 figures.

GC crime down 5 percent

Major crimes in Granite City decreased five percent in November, compared to November, 1979, while arrests for major crimes increased 28 percent for the same period, according to the monthly report of police activities released by Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer.

Crime rates remained the same or showed a decrease in every category except burglary, which went from 42 cases in November, 1979, to 46 cases last month, and rape, where one case was reported last month and none were reported in November, 1979.

Decreases were reported in auto burglary, down from 36 to 34; larceny, down from 89 to 80, and auto thefts, down from 17 to 11. Remaining the same were robbery, with two cases each month, and assault, with 27 cases each month. There were no homicides in either November.

Auto burglary arrests rose dramatically, from one arrest in November, 1979, to 14 arrests last month, burglary arrests, up 300 percent from three to nine, and in auto theft cases, where the increase was 250 percent, from two arrests in November of last year to five last month.

Declines were seen in arrests for assault, cases, down from 24 to 21, and larceny cases, down from 31 to 28 last month.

Overall, arrests in serious cases increases 28 percent, from 61 in November, 1979, to 77 in November, 1980. A total of 162 cases were cleared by arrest last month, a two-percent decline from the 166 cases cleared by arrest one year earlier.

Traffic arrests were down 22 percent last month from November, 1979, with 269 arrests, compared to 334 the same month a year earlier. Other arrests were down 31 percent comparing the same months, from 160 last year to 109 last month, bringing total arrests to 380, which is 25 percent below the 494 in November, 1979.

With more than one charge against some of those arrested, the total charges filed last month, 452, were 20 percent below the 568 filed in the same month of 1979.

Thus far this year, there have been 5,577 charges filed against 4,759 persons in Granite City, which are approximately five percent below the 5,823 charges against 5,088 persons in the first 11 months of 1979.

Traffic accidents in the first 11 months of this year, 1,417, are 19 percent below the 1,764 accidents in the same period of 1979, according to the report.

Three persons have been killed as the result of auto accidents thus far into 1980, a 50 percent reduction from the six persons killed during the first 11 months of 1979, Veizer noted.

The police department answered 1,357 complaints during November, the report concluded.

Venice students on TV quiz show

Students from Venice High School will compete against students from Incarnate Word Academy, St. Louis, on "Newsquiz '5" produced by KSDK-TV and to be televised on Saturday, Dec. 20 at 5 p.m.

The quiz show, with host Cliff St. James, is a contest of current events with students from two local high schools competing for prizes for their schools.

Representing Venice High School will be seniors Paula Walker, Gwen West and Lorne Wray. Also, junior Lan Arnold and sophomores Danny Fleig and Neil Mize.

Winners of the competition will win for their school library a 30-volume set of the Encyclopedia Britannica and the runners-up will win for their school Webster's Third Addition of the Unabridged Dictionary.

Ken Perkins and Mrs. Irene Orr are the coaches for the Venice students. The show will be video taped on Friday, Dec. 19.

Christmas events for old and young alike

Proving that Christmas is a time for young and old alike to enjoy, two organizations this week announced plans for Christmas parties.

Chouteau Township senior citizens are being invited to a Christmas party and dance at the township social center tomorrow evening, beginning at 7 p.m.

For the youngsters, Madison-Venice American Legion Post 307, at 740 Broadway, Venice, has announced a children's Christmas party, to be held at the post Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. It will feature Santa, gifts, movies and special activities.

All members and invited friends of members may bring children to the event.

The Chouteau Township senior citizens event will begin with a short business meeting at 7, followed by the party and dance. According to Walter "Dick" Sparks, all Chouteau Township senior citizens and senior citizens from surrounding organizations are encouraged to come and have an evening of fun together.

Musicians will be furnished by the Musicians Union to entertain at the Chouteau party. Attendance prizes will be given. No gifts are to be brought to the event.

The Chouteau Township social center and town hall are located next to the township garage and behind the Midwest Motel. It can be reached by taking Interstate 270 to Route 203 north, (Old Alton Road) and turning left onto the frontage road at the sign for the Midwest Motel.

Cub Scouts earn awards

Cub Scouts and Webelos of Pack 122 were presented awards at a regular meeting. Webelos conducted the flag ceremony under Leader Ray McGee.

The Cub Scouts to receive awards were: Chris Weiss-Bobcat, Chris Anderson-Bobcat, Dennis Jamison-Bobcat. Webelos to receive awards were: Roger Muthland-travelers, and outdoorsman, and Kenny McGee-naturalist.

All dens leaders, mothers and fathers, received corsages. Santa Claus gave out presents to each boy. The presents were Pinewood Derby cars.

Keith Nemeth received a sleeping bag for signing the most boys in the scouts. Webelos won the trophy again, but Den 2 will provide, 4000 the game for the next month. The boys were informed the Pinewood Derby race would be in March.

After the meeting each boy and their parents ended the evening with refreshments served by the Den Mothers.

BURGLARY VICTIM

Cahokia Downs purchase approved

By ED GURNEY
The purchase of Cahokia Downs by the firm that owns Fairmount Park Racetrack has been made possible by the action of a federal bankruptcy judge Wednesday in East St. Louis.

The purchase should be completed this week, according to Bob Graham, general manager of Fairmount Park.

Graham termed the acquisition a "major help" to the year-round operation of Fairmount Park. "We don't operate the number of days we do without a training facility," he said.

The federal judge approved a reorganization plan under which Ogden Fairmount, Inc., based in Boston, will pay the debts of the bankrupt Alorton racetrack.

Cost of acquiring Cahokia Downs is approximately $3 million, Graham said.

He said it is his rough estimate that it would take another $1 million to put Cahokia Downs in shape to be reopened as a racetrack.

(It's been shut down since 1979.)

However, it will be some time before a decision is made whether or not to reopen Cahokia Downs. "I don't think that's the answer, at this point," Graham said.

Instead, Ogden will immediately begin pouring about $300,000 into renovating the barn areas at Cahokia Downs. It is hoped the facility can be ready for training thoroughbred horses "no later than Jan. 1," Graham said. The next thoroughbred season at Fairmount begins Feb. 27, Graham said Ogden had its three criteria met in the plan to obtain Cahokia Downs:

- Purchase of the land.
- Acquisition of the rights to concessions.
- Buying out the owners of the track.

Rights to the concessions were obtained by paying about $1.16 million in loans to Sportservice of Buffalo, N.Y., the firm that had had a long-term contract at Cahokia Downs.

Ogden now owns a total of five tracks, including two in West Virginia and one in Boston.

Boy Scout dinner date announced

The Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council will hold the 31st Annual Recognition Dinner on Saturday, Feb. 7, 1981.

The event will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall in Edwardsville.

Jack Vance, of Edwardsville, is the dinner chairman.

Tickets for the dinner are $5.50 each and must be purchased by 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 2.

Tickets may be purchased at the Boy Scout Service Center, 2016 Delmar Ave. Several volunteer leaders will be honored at the dinner.

The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the Silver Beaver Award, the highest honor bestowed on a volunteer leader.

TROY LEE TURNER JOINS AIR FORCE

Troy Lee Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Turner, 5175 Old Alton Road, Mitchell, has enlisted in the Air Force.

Upon graduation from six weeks of basic training, he will receive training in the mechanic career area. He is a 1979 graduate of Granite City High School North.

Great Lakes port shipping will rise

Governor James R. Thompson has announced he has been assured by the federal government that it will soon adopt rules requiring federal agencies to ship at least 10 percent of their government cargoes through Great Lakes ports.

The governor said his office was informed of the new rules at a meeting he called of Great Lakes maritime interests.

"This decision could mean a substantial increase in the amount of cargo shipped through the Port of Chicago and could add substantially to the economy of the state," he said.

In addition to the proposed rules, the Maritime Administration will also soon complete a synthesis of several studies on how to revitalize Great Lakes ports, and make recommendations to the secretary of commerce.

A cross-section of Great Lakes maritime interests were in attendance at the meeting, including representatives from ports, labor, financial, community, state and local government, and major exporters.

EARLY PROMOTION FOR DONALD R. SCOTT

Marine Pfc. Donald R. Scott, son of Melvin L. Scott and Virginia Bresnahan of 2400 Glen Place and 81 Kaseberg Park, respectively, has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

He received the early promotion for superior performance during all phases of the 13-week training cycle, which emphasized physical conditioning, self-discipline and teamwork. He joined the Marine Corps in August 1980.

Opti-Mrs. yule party

The Noon Day Opti-Mrs. Club Christmas party was held Monday at Charlie's Restaurant which was decorated in the Christmas spirit.

Twenty-five members attended the luncheon. The hostesses were Lorain Ranft, Virginia John, Pat Konzen, Tommie Kirchoff and Ella Odum.

Prior to the luncheon Lorain Ranft gave a Christmas prayer. President Gladys Pape conducted a short business meeting and called on Ella Odum to lead the Opti-Mrs. Creed.

Birthday recognition was given Helen Buenger and Helen Todd. Christmas cards were signed by the members to be sent to Ertha Johnson in the following hall.

On the following evening, Dec. 21, 7 p.m. the church will present a program of music and the play "O Holy Night" which will be put on by members of the congregation under the direction of Margaret Luffman. Rev. Luther Abbott, pastor, invites the public to attend.

GRANDCHILD IS BORN IN GERMANY

The Rev. and Mrs. Max Schriber, 2109 Missouri Ave., are announcing the birth of their ninth grandchild. Their daughter and son-in-law, Specialist 4 Wendell and Martha (Schriber) Morgan, became parents of a seven-pound, 14 ounce boy named Jeremy Edward on Sept. 21 in Germany. He is their first child.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Truman Morgan of Gentry, Ark. Spec. Morgan is with the Army, stationed in Ismer, Turkey.

Bethesda Baptist church program

Bethesda Baptist Church, 3035 Nameeki Drive, Granite City, will start the holiday season with their annual Christmas supper on Dec. 20, 6 p.m. in the church fellowship hall.

On the following evening, Dec. 21, 7 p.m. the church will present a program of music and the play "O Holy Night" which will be put on by members of the congregation under the direction of Margaret Luffman. Rev. Luther Abbott, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Church of God Christmas play

"Christmas Comes to the Carey's," a Christmas play by Joy A. Sterling, will be presented Sunday, Dec. 21, at 11 a.m. at the Church of God, 1536 Fourth St. in Madison.

"Christmas Comes to the Carey's" presents the story of a spoiled girl named Angela. It isn't until Hetty, a sincere Christian girl, comes to live in her house that Angela discovers how a real Christian feels about Christmas.

When Hetty becomes aware of Angela's antagonism, she runs away. Only when she returns does the family learn the true meaning of Christmas.

Sandie Laster plays Angela and Lisa Pulley is Hetty. Others include Juanita Redfern, Gene Cloninger, Karn Garner, Matt Garner, Freda Bolling, Steve Bolling, Lonnie Laster, and Billy Shuhling, all from the church.

The public has been invited by Pastor Dewey Garner. Transportation is available by calling 931-4471.

Gardenaires have party

Members of the Gardenaires Garden Club enjoyed their annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Charles Kohl. Mrs. Kohl served a noon lunch at tables decorated with holly and candles. Mrs. Leo Schank presented holiday corsages of holly and pine greens to those present.

Members answered roll call by naming their favorite plant used during the holiday season. Mrs. C. E. Eads provided cuttings from a rosemary plant. The rosemary is a sweet-smelling evergreen shrub. This shrub has long been known as the Christmas shrub, and in ancient times a tea was brewed from its spiny leaves which was said to calm the nerves.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Abe Shannon presented the club a monetary gift to purchase a plant to be used during the holiday season at the minigarden information center at the Granite City Public Library.

It was also reported the annual project of decorating the library had been completed. Mrs. Alex Tarporf, who is the conservation chairman for the local club, and Mrs. Robert Hintz, who is conservation chairman for District V of the Garden Clubs of Illinois, announced plans had been completed for 18 students from the science department at South High School to attend a class in January at the Lehmann Library located at the Missouri Botanical Garden in St. Louis.

The students will be given the opportunity to visit the herbarium which is housed in the library. Accompanying the students will be Mr. Marvin Reming as instructor in the science department at the high school.

At the conclusion of the business meeting Mrs. Kohl and Mrs. Mary Kristian presented a program on "Holiday Table Settings." They concluded their remarks by reviewing the rules and regulations that govern this class in a standard flower shop.

Before the president adjourned the meeting she reminded the members a workday will be held at the library on Tuesday, Jan. 6. The club does not hold a regular meeting in January. The next meeting will be Feb. 12 at the home of Mrs. Mary Kristian.

Present at the meeting, in addition to those already mentioned: Mrs. William Long, Mrs. Roy Hormann, Mrs. Andrew Gonzalez, Mrs. John Farrell, Mrs. Richard Kerch, and Mrs. Jerry Arbeiter. Mrs. Al Malott, a former member of the club, was a guest.

SIUE course planned on death, dying

The department of philosophical studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a course during the winter quarter on children and death.

Children and Death (HUM 450-4) provides a comprehensive examination of death, dying and bereavement as they are related to childhood and adolescence.

Participants will learn how societal and adult views of death influence children's perspectives. Coursework will also consider research on factors affecting the development of death-related concepts and attitudes in children.

The course is particularly recommended for nurses, clinical psychologists, social workers, members of the clergy, funeral directors, educators and parents.

Classes will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. Instructor for the course will be Charles Corr.

Corr is the author of numerous reviews, papers, and articles in the field of death and dying. He contributed two chapters to a new textbook on dying and is co-author of Death Education: An Annotated Resource Guide.

Corr has spent several weeks each year for the past three years at a leading hospital in England doing research and working with the terminally ill.

Additional information concerning this course may be obtained by contacting the SIUE department of Philosophical studies at (618) 682-2250.

GC right in withdrawing from area vocational center

Regional cooperation has worked well in the matching of special education students and classes to meet their needs, but this has not been the case regarding vocational and career education. The Granite City School District wisely decided Tuesday night to withdraw from the area vocational center with which it has been affiliated since 1971.

The district no longer will be a member of the J. B. Johnson Career Development Center, situated 2½ miles north of Alton. During the past decade, Granite City schools have never found a need to utilize the center to broaden career opportunities here.

Eighteen vocational programs offered at the Granite City high schools roughly match those offered at the Alton center—welding and air-conditioning, auto mechanics, child care, bookkeeping, marketing, secretarial training, electricity, electronics, clothing, drafting, nurse aide, machine shop, graphic arts, welding, building trades, and home furnishings merchandising.

Classes taught by the Granite City district but not available at the J. B. Johnson Center offer medical transcription, hospital housekeeping, fashion merchandising, clerical and unit clerk training.

Four Johnson programs, licensed practical nurse, commercial art, auto body and ornamental horticulture, are being studied as possible additions in Granite City.

Three others, small engines, agricultural mechanics and agricultural resources, are viewed to offer intensive job placement prospects in this area.

Other two Alton courses, diesel mechanics and aviation mechanics, are not being considered here because of their close relationship to the existing local auto mechanic instruction.

School officials estimate that if Granite City students participated in a two-year program at the Johnson Center, they would spend the equivalent of 90 eight-hour days on buses. Other complications include differences in "snow day" decisions in Alton and Granite City, and the necessity for students to spend a required number of hours at their home school.

As the Granite City district's vocational and career education director, Thomas C. Hollaway, said in a report to Superintendent B. J. Davis and the school board this week, "We see nothing in the future that would prompt us to bus our students north to Alton in order to provide them with quality vocational training."

"But we do realize that future declines in enrollment will lead to combining of some offer simultaneous at both the North and South high schools."

Inflation the real villain as interest sores out of sight

Comment by Wall Street Journal—Almost everyone wants to know how much higher the prime rate can go. How high is the moon? How many people would have believed two years ago it could go to 21 percent?

To begin to understand the current mysteries of the credit market, it is necessary to clear up some misunderstandings.

First of all, credit is not extremely tight, whatever you might hear. Money is being lent, at a price, and some are even discounting that price in special circumstances.

Second, even at 21 percent, credit for many borrowers is not really expensive, after taxes.

Economist Lawrence Kudlow estimates that after deducting interest costs, a business borrower who is paying taxes at a 46 percent rate ends up with the 21 percent money costing him only 11.3 percent. If you figure inflation is higher than that, he is getting it free.

That is not to say there are not serious dislocations occurring at the present high price of credit.

Prospective long-term borrowers are plagued with uncertainties. Disintermediation is sucking some money out of the mortgage markets, affecting sales of houses.

The auto business seems to be taking it on the chin because the high price of consumer credit (although careful explanation could show some sales prospects the beauties of the interest rate tax deduction, particularly those in high marginal tax brackets).

If there is so much credit around, why is the price so high?

The answer comes from taking a look at what is facing us, which the credit markets are always doing.

What we see is a year ahead in which credit demands are expected to be enormous. Salomon Brothers has just estimated net new satisfied credit demand in 1981 will rise a phenomenal 33 percent to a record $412 billion.

This demand will be placed on a national economy that, because of all the sludge that has been generated by inflation, over-taxation and over-regulation, can be expected to grow only slightly in real terms, if at all.

The conclusion is obvious. If that credit demand is gratified in the way that credit demand has usually been gratified in this political economy, we can expect more double-digit inflation.

If you are a banker pricing out a one-year loan, you don't ask yourself how many dollars you have in your till; you ask what you can offer that dollar for today and still get back something equivalent to the same amount, in real terms, a year from now.

This is your "inflation expectation." Right now it is producing a prime rate of 21 percent.

One of the big demanders of credit, now and prospective, is the federal government.

Under the federal budget essentially out of control, estimates of how much money the feds will want from public borrowing in 1981 are revised upward almost daily, but are already creeping above $100 billion without even mentioning the various allocative programs—FHA loan guarantees, student loans, farm loans and the like, which will also be very large in 1981.

The federal deficit is affected adversely in several important ways by the debt ceiling.

Inflation, of course, swells federal entitlement programs. Federal borrowing costs rise sharply because of the high interest rate.

And federal revenues are diminished by the large deductions that taxpayers are making on interest as they pile up debt at high rates.

The federal tax bracket creep is being defeated by borrowing, in the absence of any good way to do it.

None of this is healthy, of course. Almost all of the inflation judgments hamper real growth in the economy, mainly by the long-term investors in the market.

Each run-up of nominal credit costs peaks at a higher level and destroys public confidence in the securities markets because of the volatility of securities prices and yields.

That is but one more disincentive to savings. The possibility of credit markets entirely preoccupied with the short term looms.

For some people, credit may be cheap at 21 percent.

But the phenomena that produce 21 percent interest rates are extremely expensive in economic terms.

Unless something is done about them, they will get more expensive still.

Nameoki to raze 4 homes

Nameoki Township officials have completed the purchase of four homes which are to be razed to make way for a mini-park in the Cloverleaf Subdivision.

About 30 persons—property owners, renters, mortgage holders and sub-leasers—attended a meeting last week at which all four properties were purchased and the titles were transferred to the township.

Community Development grant funds were used to purchase the houses. The grant funds also were used to pay relocation fees for families which will have to move, so the structures can be demolished, it was reported.

Shortly after the meeting, two of the houses burned. The origins of the fires are under investigation, according to Supervisor Harold Davis.

In about 90 days, the township will demolish the structures, clear the land and start planning park, with the aid of neighborhood residents.

"We will put whatever they want there, whether it is a mini-park like we put in State Park Place or some other kind of park," Davis said.

Davis said the Cloverleaf Park is just one of the accomplishments of his term as supervisor, a post he is leaving after the April election. He is running for highway commissioner, a post he says will better fit his schedule.

Another recent accomplishment has been the activation of a tornado warning system to serve the Arlington Heights subdivision and Holiday Mobile Home Park. A dedication of the system is being planned for the near future.

Another accomplishment which will be seen soon is a new bus to transport senior citizens and the handicapped free for doctor visits, shopping, banking and other errands.

Davis met with a representative of Dave Croft Chrysler Dodge Monday afternoon to receive title to the new Dodge van and to turn over a check for $14,384 from the Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging as a leadership payment in full for the van. No township funds were utilized in the purchase.

New industry in Venice

At the request of Venice manufacturer Milton Morris the Venice City Council Tuesday evening vacated part of McKinley Avenue and part of an alley for industrial expansion.

The street near the railroad tracks was only used by Morris. Half of the street and alley went to American Truck Company and the other half to the Terminal Railroad Association.

Morris plans to build a 60 by 140 foot building within a year.

American Truck Company will renovate and sell to railroads; reconditioned track, rails and cross overs.

The building will house two cranes and the equipment will be able to work on 35 feet long pieces of rail.

Milnor Manufacturing is already making the production equipment for the new industry.

The plant will employ 10 to 12 skilled workers.

"The railroads are being forced to fix their own track throughout the country and the can buy reconditioned railroad track much cheaper than new rails," Morris said.

He noted they had 800 tons of track ready to work on and more orders coming in.

Three get petitions

Three more potential candidates for Granite City alderman picked up candidate petitions this week from Granite City Clerk Robert W. Stevens.

David L. Greathouse, grandson of a former alderman, has obtained petitions for Ward One, Harlan Dickey got candidate petitions for the Second Ward and Nelson Dunlap has taken out petitions for the Fifth Ward, Stevens said.

Petition filing is to begin tomorrow and continue through the deadline Jan. 26. Blank petitions may be obtained any time up until the deadline.

Hospital Notes

Patients admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, include:

News notes

The Health Systems Agency on Tuesday night elected Dr. James Brasfield of the St. Louis County as president and Mark L. Drucker of Madison County as first vice-president.

Governor James R. Thompson said Tuesday he feels the public school board proposed last week by the state education board is more than the state can afford. The Granite City Board of Education decided Tuesday night to urge the governor not to approve requiring public schools to provide bus service for non-public schools unless he also provides a revenue source.

What does a medical doctor do when he isn't practicing medicine? Dr. Felicia Koch spent part of the weekend costume as a Disneyland character to entertain youngsters at a Christmas party given by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce. She and Stacy Thomas and Julie Seaton, who payed Donald Duck, Pinocchio and Mickey Mouse, Valerie Stevens and Judy Barnum led a singing and Gerry Yabak played guitar selections before Santa Claus distributed gifts, fruit and candy.

Buying stolen merchandise keeps thefts profitable

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

"You're not going to stop the crimes of burglary and theft until the citizens stop buying the loot," Granite City Police Chief Ronald Veizer said yesterday as he announced the clearing of 26 separate cases with two unrelated arrests.

"These are kids, 17 and 19 years old, who arrange a buyer before they even steal this stuff and it is usually sold within an hour of when it is stolen," Veizer said.

Crain Nong, "If the outlet ever slows down, burglary will slow down to a crawl," he added.

Veizer's and Nong's comments came after they announced the clearing of 26 separate cases which occurred between November 3, 1979, and Nov. 26, 1980. The two young men, who reside in the 2200 block of Deway Ave., have allegedly admitted participation in 11 cases.

The two worked independently of each other, "but each knew the other was a thief," according to Detective Nong. No links to their crimes have been discovered, he added.

Many of the items stolen by the two young men were recovered and returned to the owners, including a 1979 Buick battery charger, a knife, shotgun shells, liquor, a television and other items, according to police reports.

He has pleaded guilty to one of the crimes and has been sentenced to serve three years in prison. "He is already in the custody of the Department of Corrections," Nong said.

The 17-year-old, who resides in the 2100 block of Benton Street, allegedly has admitted to stealing mostly vehicle burglaries, all in October and November of this year.

According to Capt. Bob Astorian, chief of the detective division for the Granite City Police Department, the two young men, who had just been released from the custody of a juvenile institution when the rash of thefts began, worked mostly as a "short-order thief," getting orders from "customers" in several local taverns and then going out and stealing the items ordered.

Most of his orders were for auto batteries and he has admitted stealing 10 of them and selling them to his "customers," the officers alleged.

Also among his admitted loot were four CB radios, four stereos, four tool boxes and tools, three tires and wheels and a pair of shoes.

He also stole two vehicles during the crime spree before police caught him, authorities said.

He is being held in the Madison County Jail at the clearing of the list of $20,000 bond on the burglary charge and the Department of Corrections has a hold order on him on a motion to revoke his parole, according to official records.

The two worked independently of each other, "but each knew the other was a thief," according to Detective Nong. No links to their crimes have been discovered, he added.

Many of the items stolen by the two young men were recovered and returned to the owners, including a 1979 Buick battery charger, a knife, shotgun shells, liquor, a television and other items, according to police reports.

"We want to stress that the owners are aware of everything that has been recovered. Victims not contacted should realize that their items were not stolen, and usually within an hour of being stolen, and have been resold and resold until they have just disappeared," Nong said.

"There is no reason for the victims who have not recovered their items to feel sorry, because we do not know where the items are, and neither do the young men in custody," Veizer concluded.

Veizer owed much of the success of the investigation to a Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission mini-block grant which was used to free Nong from other duties to devote his attention to only one case at a time.

"This grant enabled him to work unhampered on these cases and bring them to a satisfactory conclusion. Both of these young men currently are in jail and will remain there for some time, that we can promise you," the chief said.

The SILEC grant for the investigator is in its second year and will expire this April. "We certainly hope they continue it, for without it, this type of case would go unsolved and these young thieves would still be on the streets, continuing these crimes," Veizer contended.

He explained that in the first year, 95 percent of Nong's was picked up by the grant. The second year, the grant was cut to 60 percent. The future after April is unknown.

Nong credited much of his success to "the sharp eyes and hard work of the police on patrol. We tell them who we want to talk to and within a very short time, that person is sitting at my desk."

"The patrol people know these people and where to find them and it isn't long before they find them," Nong stated. He added, "The patrolmen are out there observing, watching."

"In one case, we knew where a stolen television set was and didn't want the set to get out of the area, without us knowing it." The patrol division went to work and I don't believe a mouse could have gotten out of that area.

"Without the patrol division, there is no way these cases could have been solved," Nong contended.

Chief Veizer concluded, "The solving of these cases has greatly reduced the crimes of theft and burglary in our town. We are pretty happy with the slowdown of burglaries during this Christmas season."

Crimes to which the 19-year-old allegedly admitted follow.

Nov. 4, 1979, theft of a Don Electric Co. truck

Nov. 15, theft from the home of Gary Madison, 2100 Deway Ave.

Nov. 22, stealing the auto of Linda Moody from St. Elizabeth Medical Center parking lot and a second theft from the auto of Winford Marler, at his home.

Nov. 25, theft from the auto of Manual Howard, 2205 Nevada St., and the auto of Mina Wofford, 2219 Deway Ave.

Nov. 26, theft from the auto of Don Belshe, 2211 Deway Ave.

Nov. 27, theft from the victim's apartment and arrested Orland.

His last arrest was at $50,000 and he appeared before Associate Judge Tom Hildebrand yesterday, who stated the child came out of the bedroom, pulling up her trousers and visibly upset.

The child alleged Orland raped her, according to the official reports. The mother took her to a neighbor's apartment and called police, who went to the victim's apartment and arrested Orland.

He was charged with sexual abuse and was held in the county jail at Edwardsville, in lieu of bond.

Orland remained in the Granite City Jail this morning, awaiting transportation to the county jail.

Welfare cases cut with cross-checking

Since 1976, when a data exchange program was initiated by the Illinois Department of Public Health and Public Aid, more than 2,000 public aid cases have had their grants either reduced or cancelled.

According to William L. Kempners, director of the state health department, the program has provided marriage and death records to Public Aid for comparison with the welfare cases.

The comparisons enable Public Aid to detect ineligible recipients or improper grant amounts and to take appropriate actions.

John C. Abbott, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health and Public Aid, said the program has been successful in identifying and eliminating ineligible recipients and improper grant amounts.

Indecent liberties with 5-year-old girl alleged

Ivan Nels Orland, 53, of 3728 S. Jefferson, St. Louis, has been charged with indecent liberties with a child in connection with an incident in the 4900 block of Kirkpatrick Homes in Granite City, Ill., Tuesday, Dec. 16.

The child's mother said the father was in the hospital, so a friend of his, Orland, was staying in the apartment to protect the family.

The mother said that when she called her children for supper, the boys came, but the young girl did not, so she started up the stairs to investigate. As she climbed the stairs, the child came out of the bedroom, pulling up her trousers and visibly upset.

The child alleged Orland raped her, according to the official reports. The mother took her to a neighbor's apartment and called police, who went to the victim's apartment and arrested Orland.

SA drive short

The annual Tree of Lights Drive is $186,896 behind the goal of $200,000 needed this year to aid needy families during the Christmas season.

Contributions this year have reached $15,104 as of today but the 1979 holiday campaign of the Salvation Army has reached only $18,000 of the $30,000 goal at the same time last year.

Contributions may be made to the Salvation Army Corps Community Center, Post Office Box 338, Granite City.

Salvation Army officials said today applications for assistance indicate a substantial need for Tree of Lights food baskets and clothing.

Applications for assistance closed yesterday, the Corps officials added.

IN INTENSIVE CARE

Melvin Durham, 63, of 2436 Iowa St., was admitted to the intensive care unit of St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 2:07 p.m. Tuesday suffering from multiple injuries resulting from a car accident.

Durham was driving east on Illinois Highway 162, two miles east of Illinois Highway 111, when he lost control of the car, which left the roadway.

San Diego drafts 'Fern'

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — David Fernandez, the All-Everything striker for Granite City South the past four years, can stick another feather in his cap. He was chosen Monday in the North American Soccer League draft in the fourth round by the San Diego Sockers.

Fernandez, who has not yet announced his college choice, said he was "very content" the day after the NASL amateur draft was held. "I'm happy," he said. "It wasn't unexpected. But I was kind of surprised at being picked by San Diego. I expected it to be Chicago."

The Chicago Sting and the New York Cosmos of the NASL had expressed interest in Fernandez, who became the second South star in as many years to be drafted by an NASL team. Last season, the Cosmos drafted Randy DeRousse on the first round. DeRousse now is on full scholarship at Eastern Illinois University.

But will Fernandez go professional? If he does, he will forfeit any chances at playing collegiate soccer, and there are a lot of major soccer schools interested in him — at such schools as SIU-Edwardsville, St. Louis University, Connecticut and Indiana. There's not a school in the country that wouldn't want him. "It all depends on what they (San Diego) say," Fernandez said. "It would have to be a stable offer. I don't want it to be like (Randy) DeRousse last year. They picked him on the first round and then told him he wouldn't be playing for him for four or five years." Also fresh on the former Warrior star's mind could be the situation that developed between SIU-E star Don Ebert and the Cosmos last season. Ebert was the first player picked in the NASL draft, but the Cosmos, who feature mostly foreign players, said he wouldn't play much this season or next. He quit the team and now plays for the St. Louis Steamers of the Major Indoor Soccer League.

South All-America goes in fourth round of NASL draft

"The (Ebert) thing wasn't on my mind too much until I was actually drafted," said Fernandez. "But I've been thinking a lot about it, too."

Fernandez said that what he means by a "stable offer" would be one that would guarantee in writing that he would be on the team. "I wouldn't have to start or even play too much," he said. "I know I'd have a lot to learn. But I'd want to know where I stood with them."

As far as he's concerned, it's not a matter of wanting to go pro or not. "Oh, I want to," he said, shaking his head, his cherubic face in a grin. "Worse than anything, I feel I've got something to prove."

What could a player who has led his team to four state championships, been named All-State four times, All-State Tournament three times and All-America twice have to prove? "I've got something to prove to the National Team people," he said. Fernandez was not chosen for the National Youth

Cup Tournament Team last summer. "I know I've got what it takes. But everything depends on what San Diego says."

But there's one thing more important to Fernandez, believe it or not. "Getting a college education is important," he said. The NASL has a rule requiring teams to set aside so much money to pay for the college education of high school draftees. "I've heard they only set aside about $10,000, though," said Fernandez. "A college education nowadays would cost more than that, all totalled."

Fernandez is a diminutive sort, standing only about 5-10. And he had acquired a reputation during his high school career of being munny-prone. "There's no problems with the knee or the ankle now," he said. "But my size would be a problem in the pros."

If he decides to go with the Sockers' offer, Fernandez won't be (Continued on Page 25)

Venice (minus three) fails to Assumption

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record

EAST ST. LOUIS — High school coaches often have tough decisions to make. After Venice High lost its sixth straight prep basketball game, 62-51 to East St. Louis-Assumption here Tuesday, its head coach, Ken Perkins, might have wished he hadn't suspended three of his regular starters for the game for what he called "disciplinary reasons."

"There were some serious personal problems at school," said Perkins. "It was an incident that happened before the first game and we waited for all the facts to come out. When they came into the open, the people involved were disciplined."

Perkins said that senior John Williams, junior Kenneth Walker and sophomore William Watts were the Red Devils forced to stay home for Tuesday's game. Another starter, junior Harold Milton, had a minor part in the incident, so Perkins refused to start him, even though he did see action.

Perkins did not say how long the disciplined players would be out of action.

"I thought I handled the situation the best way I could," said Perkins.

What Perkins did was take a valuable asset away from an already deprived team. With the suspension went what was the little height Venice had. As the Pioneers tore up Venice on the boards, 36-24, Walker at 6-2 or Williams at 6-1 might have brought the Red Devils some relief.

"Rebounding was definitely a problem," said Perkins. "We just didn't get a second shot. When we did, (Tony) White intimidated them."

The Pioneer center pretty much had his way throughout the game. Dropping in seven shots on only ten attempts, White collected nine of his 15 points in the first half. He tapered his scoring production in the second 16 minutes, to take charge of the boards, hauling in 16 rebounds for the game. "We can match up pretty well with anybody," said Assumption head coach Ted Daniels. "I've got three kids who can get the job done."

As White tailed off in the offense, Tony Berry stepped in. Recording only four points in the first half, Berry came up with a game high 21, including 11 of Assumption's 14 fourth quarter tallies.

"When they (Pioneers) needed the points, they went to their money men," said Perkins. "When started to come back, we went our money man, too. The problems was that he didn't produce."

The Red Devils had to fight back all night. A three point play by the Pioneer's White early in the first period, put Venice behind to stay. Archie Gardner's eight first quarter tallies kept Venice within a range at 15-13, but the "money man" lacked that value for the remainder of the contest.

Perkins put the game into perspective as he ran his finger through the scoreboard to point out a big downfall. "Ken Wise, four fouls and only two points," said Perkins. "He's a senior. James Cox, eight points in the first half and then none in the fourth quarter. He's a senior, too. We didn't have the leadership we needed. The seniors that were supposed to be, just weren't there."

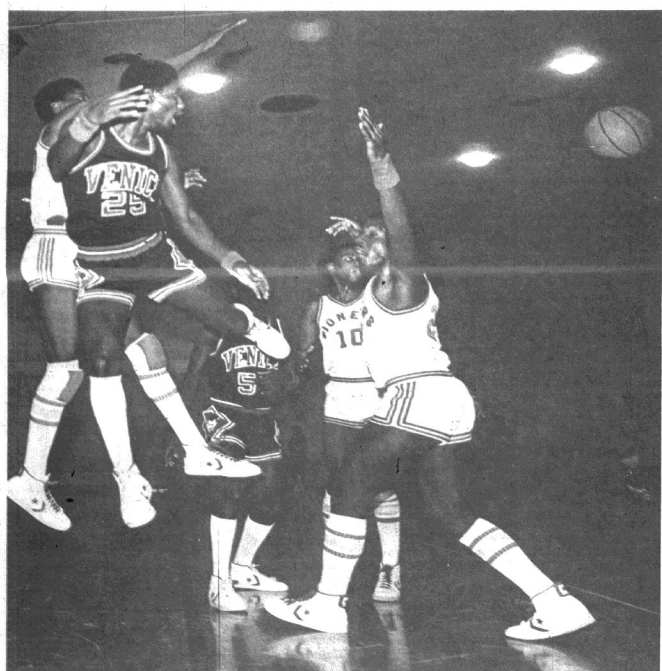

The apprehensive play was evident in the deciding third quarter when Venice scored 10 points and shot a lowly 27 percent. "We weren't consisted in taking good shots," said Perkins. Venice hit 37 percent of its attempts for the game. Even though Gardner led the team with 18 points, he only connected on nine of 24 tries.

The Red Devils wouldn't back off, though. Putting together a charge in the third period, Venice drew to within six at 44-38. But Tony White silenced the rush with an unexpected and awesome slam dunk standing directly under the bucket. "The dunk was monstrous," said Perkins. "It didn't kill us, but it sure hurt." Venice attempted to make one other run at the lead in the final stanza. Running off six unanswered points, the margin was cut to seven at 52-45, but the effort couldn't get it any closer. "As a new coach, I'm always concerned about every game," said Daniels. "Knowing what they (Venice) did against Madison, I knew the game would be tough."

Although Venice fell further under the .500 mark to 0-6 and played a relatively close game without three starters, Perkins has to have a good feeling about his team. "I think we could have given them a better game with the other players in there," said Perkins. "I'm proud of the way we put in a stretch run. I'll give them credit for that, they don't give up."

Trojans vs. Bradley in Centraia Tourney

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

CENTRALIA — The Madison basketball Trojans, they of the run-and-gun, of the whirling slam-dunk, of the pressure that has made countless opponents wilt, have jumped into the Big-Time. Oh, they may have thought they were in the Big-Time when they made those three trips to the Assembly Hall at the University of Illinois to bring home a state small school championship in 1978 and a fourth-place finish last year. But that was small potatoes compared to what they're getting into over the Christmas break. Centraia Holiday Tournament. One of the oldest post-Christmas tourneys in the country, the Centraia meets annually attracts some of the best high school basketball teams in the Midwest. Take last year's tournament champion, for instance, Chicago Manley, which went on to capture the Class AA (large school) state championship last season with All-America Russell Cross at the helm. Madison will open the tournament in the first game of the opening session against Bradley-Bourbonnais at 9 a.m. on Monday, Dec. 29. Bourbonnais is a school from near Chicago with an enrollment of 1,750. Madison High's student population is 487, by far the smallest in the tournament. But size doesn't really matter to trojan coach Larry Graham. "I'm really glad to be able to play in this tournament," he said. "There are some very good, very big schools in it. But it can't do anything but help us. The tougher the competition, the better."

Complete first round pairings for Dec. 29 are:
9 a.m. — Madison vs. Bradley-Bourbonnais
10:30 a.m. — Belleville West vs. Arlington Heights
1:15 p.m. — East St. Louis Senior vs. Mascoutah
2:45 p.m. — Peoria Woodruff vs. Chicago Manley
4:15 p.m. — Homewood-Flossmoor vs. Benton
7 p.m. — Mount Vernon vs. Chicago Rich East
8:30 p.m. — Chicago Marist vs. Centraia

10 p.m. — Edwardsville vs. Champaign Central Don't let Madison's enrollment fool you, though. The Trojans have played the likes of East St. Louis Senior, Edwardsville, Granite City North and South, Chatham Greenwood and Springfield Griffin in recent years. The Trojans defeated all of them but East St. Louis, losing a one point game in overtime to the Flyers last season. All have bigger enrollments than Bradley-Bourbonnais. The Boiler-makers of Bradley-Bourbonnais are coached by former Collinsville All-Stater Roger Bohnenstiel, who later went on to gain All-America honors at the University of Kansas. He graduated from Collinsville in 1964.

Steamers surge past out-classed Stallions

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — In the standings, it'll look like just another victory for the St. Louis Steamers. But Wednesday night's 4-1 victory over Buffalo at the Checkerdome was just the tonic the doctor ordered for the club. After taking a 9-5 thrashing Sunday night at the hands of defending champion New York, the Steamers needed a win last night to give them some of their confidence back and to show the fans of St. Louis that their strong early-season showing wasn't a fluke. They did both.

"It was a good win," said Steamer head coach Pat McBride. "Especially since we were without so many key people."

The Steamers were without the services of former SIU-Edwardsville star Greg Makowski, St. Louisian Denny Vaninger and another former SIUE player, Greg Villa. In addition, captain Steve Pecher played only the first half, suffering from a broken toe and a case of the flu.

Two fourth period goals Ty Kough and Yilmaz Orhan cemented the victory for the Steamers. Up until that time, however, it was a clear case of the have-nots nearly beating the haves. St. Louis dominated the game from a territorial standpoint. But you don't get any points in soccer for time of possession. Only the goals count. And Buffalo got the first one. Tijja Ivkovic scored with only 41 seconds remaining in the first quarter, giving the Stallions a 1-0 lead. Steamer goalie Slobodan Iljevski didn't have a chance. After making the initial save on a shot by Zoren Savic, he was caught on the turf in a maze of legs. Ivkovic shot the rebound into the net. On only its third shot of the game, Buffalo had claimed the lead.

But back came the Steamers. Tony Glavin, on an assist from John Stremlau, tied the score at the 11:19 mark of the second quarter. On the play, Stremlau set Glavin up with a perfect feed-pass from the right corner. Glavin simply touched the ball into the net.

The goal that turned out to be the winning one came in the third period. Orhan scored his first of two on the evening on a beautiful left-footed shot after getting the pass on a two-on-one break from Don Ebert. Buffalo goalie Scott Manning came out to try and stop Orhan, who simply took the shot with his left foot instead of his right.

Obviously, the defenses of both teams played fairly well. "We just totally shut them (Buffalo) down," said Ebert. "I was our best our defense has played all season."

Included in that defense was Iljevski, who made 18 saves in the nets for the Steamers.

NOTES: St. Louis outshot Buffalo 45-35. Manning made 21 saves for Buffalo.

Lakeview vs. South in first round at Wood River

WOOD RIVER — The pairings for the annual Wood River Christmas Basketball Tournament were released here Tuesday. And Granite City South, which won the first two tournaments and finished second to Wood River last season, could have a tough time matching that record this time around. The Warriors are paired with here Tuesday. And Granite City South, which won the first two tournaments and finished second to Wood Lakeview has a record of 4-1 on the young season. The Spartans last played Friday night at home against Apollo Conference rival Paris, and beat the Tigers 70-44. Lakeview is 1-1 in conference play.

South will face Lakeview at 3 p.m. in the tournament's second first-round game on Monday, Dec. 29. The entire first round pairings are:

1 p.m.: Roxana vs. Litchfield
3 p.m.: Granite South vs. Decatur Lakeview
6:15 p.m.: Plaza Southwestern vs. Bethalto
8 p.m.: Wood River vs. Clinton, Tenn.

On Tuesday, Dec. 30, the losers of the first two games will play each other. The second round games will play at 3 p.m.

The semifinal games will be played during the evening session. At 6:15 p.m., the winners of the first two games will play. The winners of the second two games will play at 8 p.m.

On Wednesday, Dec. 31, the winners of Tuesday's first two games will play for the consolation championship at 4:30 p.m. At 6 p.m., the losers of the second two Tuesday games will tangle for third place. The championship game, pitting the winners of the two semifinal games, will be played at 7:45 p.m.

Before entering the tournament, South will have two tough Gateway East Conference games. This Friday, the Warriors will play at Edwardsville. Saturday night, they will host powerful Cahokia.

Steelers grab top spot in weekly poll

GRANITE CITY — Is this the year that the pendulum swings from the South side of town to the North side? According to the first Press-Record Prep Wrestling poll of the season, it just might be.

Granite City North, unbeaten and unchallenged thus far this season, is the best team on this side of the Mississippi River, according to the poll of five area prep wrestling coaches. But North's Steelers didn't run away with the top honors. Right on their heels is perennial powerhouse Granite City South, also unbeaten and unchallenged. And only two points behind the Warriors are the Roxana Shells, evidently having completed the reconstruction that began three seasons ago.

North, which ended Belleville West's 62-match unbeaten streak in a four-way dual meet in Collinsville nearly two weeks ago, looks to be strong at just about every weight level this season. The Steelers have clearly dominated every opponent on their way to a 7-0 record.

The Steelers have three grapplers who qualified for the IHSAA State Finals last season. Senior Gerald Miller leads the way at 119 pounds. Senior Mike Robinson (son of North cross country coach Pete Robinson) at 105 and junior Steve Smith also went to the Class AA Finals last year.

After North pinned that 26-17 loss on Belleville West (which finished first in last season's P-R Poll), ending the streak, Roxana beat the Maroons the very next match, giving last year's powerhouse losses in a row. Even though the Shells didn't beat West as convincingly as did the Steelers, they did beat them, something that Illinois teams haven't been able to do for a long time.

Granite City South, which received as many first place votes as North, keeps rolling along. The Warriors, whose only loss last season was to West, appear to have another in a long line of powerful teams. The only weakness on this year's South squad could be in the lower weights.

After the top three teams, the drop-off begins. Belleville East is ranked fourth, six points ahead of cross-town rival West.

North and South have faced one common opponent this season — the Vikings of Parkway North. The Steelers shut them out 50-0 and South beat them 50-9, losing only two lower weight bouts at 98 and 105 pounds.

North won't get a chance to wrestle South in a dual meet until the last match of the season, Thursday, Feb. 5 at South, even though wrestlers from the two teams will undoubtedly face each other next week in the annual South Christmas Tournament. North will face Roxana in a four-way dual at Roxana with Cahokia and Carbondale Jan. 31, while South faces the Shells in a quadrangular meet at Hazelwood Central Jan. 24, along with Lindbergh and Central.

Hoop Shoot this Saturday

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Elks, as previously reported in the Press-Record, will sponsor its annual "Elks' Hoop Shoot" contest, this Saturday, Dec. 20, at the Grigsby Junior High School gymnasium.

The Elks Hoop Shoot is a contest for youngsters, both boys and girls, which involves free throw shooting. The contestant who makes the most free throws out of a predetermined number of attempts, will be declared the winner.

The contest is open to all boys and girls in the Quad Cities area, including Madison and Venice. There are three age groups involved: 8-9 years old, 10-11 years old and 12-13 years old. In order for a contestant to participate in a specific age group, he or she cannot be older than the oldest age in that group before April 1, 1981.

Sign-ups at the Grigsby Junior High gym, located off Pontoon Road near Pontoon Beach, will begin at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Lincoln Tigers voted best

GRANITE CITY — East St. Louis Lincoln is still the top Class AA (large school) basketball team in the area, despite losing its first game of the season last weekend, according to this week's Press-Record-Collinsville Herald Prep Coaches Poll.

Lincoln's Tigers, who lost to Chicago Marshall Saturday night, got six first place votes and finished five points ahead of arch-rival East St. Louis Senior, which received two of the 10 first place votes. The other two first place votes went to Gateway East Conference power Cahokia, which thrashed rival GEC school Edwardsville last week in the first conference showdown of the season. They finished eighth points back of Lincoln.

The point margin between third and fourth place shows a "Big Three, Little Seven." Belleville West comes in fourth, followed by Edwardsville,

CLASS AA
Team	Pts.
1. East St. Louis Lincoln (6)	83
2. St. Louis Senior (2)	46
3. Cahokia (2)	40
4. Belleville West	36
5. Edwardsville	34
6. Collinsville	30
7. Belleville Althoff	26
8. Wood River	24
9. Belleville East	18
10. Mascoutah	16

OTHERS WITH VOTES (in order): Triad, Alton, Highland.

CLASS A
Team	Pts.
1. MADISON (4)	48
2. Shawnee	46
3. Breese Mater Dei	22
4. Ford Bud	18
5. West Union	16
6. Nashville	14
7. Gibson (West)	12
8. West Bunker Hill	10
9. Lyndon	8
10. West Union	6

OTHERS WITH VOTES (in order): Freeburg, Mattoon, Leavelle (Shawnee), Assumption (ESL), Venice, Cahokia, Highland.

Collinsville, Belleville Althoff, Wood River, Belleville East and Mascoutah. The poll was taken before Althoff was whipped by Class A school Okawville and Triad edged Wood River Tuesday night.

Teams receiving Honorable Mention in this week's poll were Triad, Alton and Highland.

Coaches voting on the poll are Roger Touvenin of Mascoutah, Stu Weider of Triad, Gene Catalpa of Collinsville, Coy Nunn of East St. Louis Sr., Stan McAdams of Alton, Don Otteson of Belleville East, Phil Ohlendorf of Granite City North, Bud Vallino of Edwardsville and Al Poppe of Belleville Althoff.

North has unenviable task

Special to The Press-Record — BREESSE — The pairings for the annual Breese Mater Dei Christmas Tournament were released here yesterday, and Granite City North's Steelers, who won the tournament last season, will have the unenviable task of facing Okawville in the first round of the double-elimination meet. North, which put together five of six games it won last season in order to storm to the Mater Dei championship, will face an Okawville team that most recently ran Gateway East Conference team Belleville Althoff into the ground Tuesday night.

Okawville finished third in the State Class A Tournament last season, beating Madison for the consolation honors in the Assembly Hall at the University of Illinois.

North's Steelers will face the Okawville Rockets at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, Dec. 26 in the tournament's second first-round game. The complete first round pairings are:

9 a.m.: Nashville vs. Highland
10:30 a.m.: Granite North vs. Okawville

1 p.m.: Springfield Griffin vs. Breese Central
2:30 p.m.: Chicago St. Gregory vs. Chatham Glenwood

4 p.m.: Thornton Fractional South vs. O'Fallon
6:30 p.m.: Waterloo vs. Newton

8 p.m.: Breese Mater Dei vs. East St. Louis Assumption

9:30 p.m.: Triad vs. Salem

Should North win its game against Okawville, the Steelers would next play at 1 p.m. Dec. 27 against the winner of the Nashville-Highland game. If North loses to the Rockets, it would face the Nashville-Highland loser.

Should North lose its first two games, it would be eliminated from further tournament play. If North should win its first game and lose its second, it would play again at 1 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 29.

The tournament championship game is set for 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 30. The third place game will be at 7 p.m., with consolation third at 2:30 p.m. and consolation championship at 11 a.m. that day.

SO LONG, MAXIE. Granite City's own Dall Maxvill, first base coach the last two seasons and former shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals, was fired Monday by Cardinals manager-general manager Whitey Herzog, who also released third base coach Jack Krol. Herzog however, said that Maxvill will remain within the Cardinals organization, but did not specify exactly what his job would involve. A special feature on 'Maxie' will appear next week in the Press-Record.

SIU-E grapplers lose

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville wrestling squad suffered an upset at the hands of Southwest Missouri State University Thursday night at Springfield, Mo., losing by a 25-21 score. Although two Cougars won by falls and three others won, a forfeit and numerous ailments caused the downfall. Missing from the Cougars were All-American Tim Ervin, who is out with an ankle injury, and Steve Koch, who has suffered a muscle spasm in the upper back. Brian Blumthal was out with the flu, and Paul Preissing has left school for personal reasons.

All American Tom Reed scored a fall against Ken Stearns of Southwest Missouri's Bret Roberts in 55. That victory put McGinnis at 2-0 for the year in dual meets.

Freshman Dan McGinnis, who is becoming a dual meet star for the Cougars, gave his team a new six-point lead by pinning Southwest Missouri's Bret Roberts in 55. That victory put McGinnis at 2-0 for the year in dual meets.

South yule band concert tonight

Granite City High School South's concert band under the direction of Joseph E. Owens will perform its Christmas concert in South's auditorium at 8 tonight.

Members of the band will be in formal attire. Selections to be performed are: March of Christianity, The Unfinished Symphony, Greensleeves, Nutcracker Suite, Waltz of the Flowers, Christmas Fantasy, "Twas the Night Before Christmas narrated by Mary Pennell, Sleigh Ride, Officer of the Day, I'll See You Again, and Them Bases.

The public is being invited to attend the concert.

Swimming for trainable pupils

As administrative agency for Quad-City Special Education Region One, the Granite City School Board on Tuesday night authorized reinstating swimming as a part of the trainable physical education program.

The last time swimming was a part of the special education physical education program was when Central School was in existence. At this time, only the trainable will be eligible, due to federal money allocations. Funding will be through the Illinois Extraordinary Care Program and will not require local school funds. "We have studied the possibilities and would like to offer the program to our trainable handicapped boys and girls at Wilson and Coolidge," Leigh Heller, Granite City schools' physical education coordinator, said.

"Our purpose is to offer students a continuing experience during the intermediate and junior high years, to have the student 'drown proof' and ready for recreational swimming by the time the high school class is reached.

"We feel the trainable swim program should begin with students of the intermediate level, aged nine and over. The physical growth and development of this age child should allow each to be able to stand in shallow water and maintain the head out of water.

If a one to one student-instructor ratio could be guaranteed, swimming instruction for primary age trainable might be feasible; unfortunately, this probably is not reality.

"Miss Joanne Higgins, our adapted physical education teacher, also feels that the primary-age child has a more difficult time differentiating than the intermediate age student.

We will use the local YMCA pool Monday through Friday, beginning Feb. 2 and ending Feb. 27. The pool is available from 1:30 through 2:15 p.m.

"Some bus routes have had to be altered, but the bus company can accommodate all of the transportation requests.

"The staff will assist with locker room procedures and serve as swim instructors on the deck and in the water, under the direction of Mrs. Augusta Berkhed. Overall cost will be $700."

Food stamps will increase

Public Aid Director Jeffrey Miller is reminding Illinoisans that food stamp allotments will be increased Jan. 1, 1981, for households participating in the stamp program. The adjustment reflects rising food prices. The monthly income and coupon allotment amounts are based on the U.S. Agriculture Department Thrifty Food Plan. The amount of the increase will depend on the size and income of the household:

One person, $316 maximum monthly income, $70 maximum coupon allotment.
Two, $418 and $128.
Three, $520 and $183.
Four, $621 and $237.
Five, $723 and $277.
Six, $825 and $322.
Seven, $926 and $367.
Eight, $1,028 income, $419 coupons.

Households with more than eight members can receive a $53 allotment adjustment and a $102 income adjustment for each person added.

In addition to the changes in coupon allotment levels, the standard deduction for all households will be increased to $85 and dependent care and excess shelter costs will be allowed up to $115. Additional information about the food stamp program is available at all public aid offices or by calling the toll-free Food Stamp Hotline: 800-972-4608.

Special education programs planned

Anticipating actions of the Quad-City special education board, the Granite City business official, said an analysis will be made of the differing statistical approaches. Parney also discussed fuel oil costs, and Assistant Supt. Frank Kraus said such costs are affected by federal regulations set to expire Sept. 1, 1981.

Students in fifth and sixth grades will be permitted to voluntarily participate in an Amvets Post 51 and Auxiliary poster and essay contest based on the theme, "Why, where and when do I salute the American flag?"

Janitorial service at the special education office will be provided by AAA Maintenance for $64 a month. In Granite City school district business, it was reported to the board that $97,000 has been received in payments under Public Law 874, the federal school impact aid program, against an entitlement of $108,000 from last year's claim.

The new year's claim is to be submitted by Jan. 12. Bills were approved for the public aid offices or by the school's claimant. It was decided to hold the next month's meetings on Jan. 13 and Jan. 20. At the Jan. 13 session, the administration will review school building fund revenues and expenditures projected for the next five years, and will discuss alternatives for meeting such financial need.

Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve holidays for 12-month school employees are changed to Dec. 24 and Jan. 2 to permit two four-day holidays.

A report by School Treasurer George Gray showed Oct. 31 cash balances of $171,355 in education, $34,907 in transportation, $28,155 in agreement, $16,771 in educational savings, $5,602 in retirement fund, $5,004 in building fund, $2,886 in working cash fund, $1,000 in interest fund.

Board Member David Parney noted that an inventory of monthly school funds as having a deficit and no appropriation, although appropriations had been voted by the board. Board Member Monroe Worthen, an accountant in private life, said the reports drawn from some budget documents in the way that

Ethnic banquet at GCHS South

The seventh annual ethnic banquet at Granite City High School South was held Sunday evening, Mrs. Wendy Kambarian and Miss Helen Vellof of the English faculty were in charge of arrangements.

Senior students provided decorations for tables where guests were seated, as well as the buffet table from which Italian, Macedonian, Greek, Hungarian, Russian, Turkish, Filipino, Korean, and Mexican foods were served.

Following the dinner, Mike Hassler and his band entertained with polkas and Christmas music.

Students and teachers also enjoyed Greek and Macedonian dances. Michelle Valencia and Ron Grigori gave a demonstration of Mexican dances.

The evening concluded with the breaking of a pinata filled with candy. In addition to the 60 students who attended were Miss Helen Kuenstler, English department chairman, and Mrs. Muriel Kratz, instructor of a class in English as a second language.

Students attending from that class included Mi Suk Cho, Soon Hee Song, Youngsik Ahn, Ji Hoon Chang, and Arshak Boyntunecoglu.

topped and placed inside the Army's community center. Also pictured are, front row from left: Mrs. Charles Gandorla, Mrs. Meikamp, Mayor Schuler, and Capt. Barbara Salisbury representing the Salvation Army. In the back row from left, are: Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Clarence Etheridge, Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw, Mrs. John Jenkins and Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse.

Receives certificate for donating tree

Mrs. Eldon Meikamp, president of the Cloverview Garden Club, received a certificate of appreciation Tuesday morning from Mayor Paul Schuler for having donated a 45-foot tree to the city to be used at the city hall for the city's Christmas tree.

The tree, cut from the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Meikamp, was found to be too large for the city hall lobby so the city offered the tree to the Salvation Army for its community center.

The tree was topped and placed in the center and has been decorated for the Christmas season.

Collect information on minority job applicants

A trial effort is underway by five local federal agencies to collect and exchange information to identify qualified minority applicants, in categories of employment in which they are underrepresented, for the purpose of making them aware of job opportunities.

Because of the federal agencies hiring freeze, a limited number of vacancies can currently be filled by outside candidates. However, while the freeze restricts hiring, this program will provide a clearing house for applicants.

Should any of the five agencies have a vacancy applicants registered with the clearing house would be notified when and where to file applications and be provided the same opportunity as all other applicants for the position.

The federal agencies involved in the program are the U.S. Army Troop Support and Aviation Material Readiness Command; Aviation Research and Development Command and Corps of Engineers; Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the Office of Personnel Management.

To enroll in the clearinghouse program, applicants are required to submit a federal Equal

Christmas play this Saturday

A Christmas play, "The Star Still Shines" will be presented by the youth group of the Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church, 25th and Ohio streets, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Poems and songs will be given by the children of the church at the 11 a.m. Sunday service.

The Rev. Clifton Galier is the pastor. The public is welcome at both services.

Two burned in caboose fire

The Venice fire department was called to the Illinois Terminal Railroad yards where a caboose had caught fire at 10:40 p.m. Monday and two railroad men were burned and taken to a St. Louis hospital.

The caboose was totally destroyed and the Madison fire department was called for assistance.

Names of the men injured were not released by the railroad.

The firemen were at the scene until 1:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Fire, water and smoke did heavy damage to the home of Larry Brewington, 1238 Robin St., Venice, between 12:35 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. Monday.

A spokesman for the Venice fire department said they believe that an extension cord that was under a carpet may have shorted and caused the fire.

The Madison fire department was called to assist.

Housing recovery may resume after short pause

The surge in interest rates since September will bring a temporary halt to the recent housing recovery and threaten a second decline in national output early next year, Dr. Jack Carlson, executive vice president and chief economist of the National Association of Realtors, said this week.

"While housing construction and investment in new commercial and industrial structures and equipment will decline during the next six months," Carlson said in his December outlook for the economy and real estate, "modest increases in consumer purchases of services and nondurable goods may keep overall growth on the positive side during the first half of 1981."

He added that national output of goods and services is expected to increase less than 1 percent next year following a 0.7 percent decline in 1980.

The stronger recovery should be in place by the second half of next year, he added, and continue into 1982.

He expects the economy to grow by more than 4 percent in 1982, slightly better than the 3.5 percent annual growth average in the 1970s.

Carlson said the unemployment rate is expected to exceed 8 percent next year before trending down to 7 percent by late 1982.

Together with ongoing double-digit growth in labor costs and more rapidly rising energy prices,

Carlson said, "consumer price inflation will likely remain near 12 percent in 1981 and moderate only slightly in 1982."

"As interest rates in general begin to decline early in 1981 and the demand for mortgages softens, some pressure will be taken off mortgage interest rates and mortgage borrowing costs by mid-1981."

"The recent increase in mortgage rates has dampened a modest improvement in housing activity."

"After four consecutive months of rising activity, sales of existing single-family homes dropped 2.4 percent in October to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 3.3 million units."

"This was 15.7 percent below sales of a year earlier. The October decline was felt in most areas of the country, but was heaviest in the South and West regions," Carlson said.

"Further sales declines can be expected over the next few months. However, the predicted easing of interest rates by spring — and an improving economy — should lay the base for a significant increase in resale activity during the second half of 1981."

"Overall resales next year are expected to average 3.3 million units," Carlson said, "up 13 percent from the 2.9 million level of 1980."

"An improving economy and more stable interest rates are likely to push sales to a record of more than 4 million units by the end of 1982."

"While the near term outlook for non-residential construction is not altogether encouraging, the long-run picture is somewhat brighter."

"New incentives to stimulate investment in structures and equipment and an improvement in overall economic activity should encourage commercial and industrial construction in the latter half of 1982 and in 1983."

involved alcohol, is an even bigger problem. This type of problem is responsible for two-thirds of the fatalities involving alcohol.

In all but two states, you are held responsible for your blood alcohol concentration (BAC) is .10 percent or higher.

"As interest rates, the legal level of intoxication is even less than .10 percent."

How much alcohol does it take to raise your BAC to that level? An average 150-pound person could consume a general anesthetic and slow the activity of your brain and spinal cord.

Your body does not digest alcohol as it does food. The alcohol you drink is absorbed directly from your stomach and intestines into your bloodstream.

This absorption takes place rapidly, especially if your stomach is empty.

What often happens, then, is that people who have had a few "cups of cheer" will have the "social drinker," who thinks she is all right and not affected by alcohol, is in a dangerous position.

That person is, after all, driving while the central nervous system is depressed and brain activity is slowed down.

And the "problem drinker," who has a record of arrests for offenses in-

Allen counselor, student senator

Mike Allen, son of Richard Allen of Granite City, is participating in the Blackboard College Peer Group Counselor (PGC) program in the 1980-81 academic year.

PGCs are chosen on a yearly basis by the selection committee: Jim Bottrell, coordinator of the program and college counselor; Dr. Jerry Schaeffer, professor of psychology; Jim West, director of housing, and his assistant, motivated, enthusiastic, non-judgmental, understanding and confidential. They must also have the ability to work in groups and actively have an interest in helping others.

Once students have been chosen to be PGCs, after extensive interviews and applications, they are placed on a dormitory floor in which they will act as counselor to their peers. Mike Allen is the PGC for Butler dormitory, 3rd floor, and has 34 residing students.

Also involved in the internship program at Blackburn, Allen works 27 hours a week at the McFarland Health Zone, a mental institution located outside of Springfield.

In this program, students take their classroom theory and knowledge and apply it in a practical sense — in a work setting. Mike Allen is similar to their field of study.

A psychology major, he says, "The practical experience behind the wheel has given me much insight into my field of study. It has allowed me to grow outside the classroom, and is preparing me for future employment in the psychology field."

Another achievement this year for Allen was his selection to the Student Senate. The Senate is the judiciary council that governs the social life of students living on campus. Selection to this committee is determined by a campus-wide election.

Blackburn College, founded in 1837, is a coeducational liberal arts college.

Allen participates in the college's student work program, performing 15 hours of on-campus work each week in partial payment of his education.

The work program, founded in 1913, requires that Blackburn resident students assist in day-to-day operation of the college and in construction of new campus facilities.

Notice To Nameoki Township Taxpayers Mr. James Barton, Supervisor of Assessments for Madison County has reassessed virtually all property in Nameoki Township for the taxable year 1980, payable in 1981. The increases in assessments are substantially higher than in the previous year of 1979. Mr. Barton's office has reassessed townships in Madison County last year and three other townships this year, including Nameoki Township to obtain a better sales ratio balance within townships, according to Illinois State Law, which requires property to be assessed at thirty-three percent of sales each year. Sales prices for old and new homes have risen from approximately twenty to fifty percent more in the past three years due to the inflationary market. People, who have bought homes at the inflationary market prices in the last three years are causing all homes in the township to be assessed at a much higher level because of the State Law which requires sales to be applied to all homes in the township. Although the assessment levels of the homes in the township are increased, this does not necessarily mean that your tax bill, to be paid in 1981 for your 1980 taxes will increase substantially. If the governmental bodies hold their tax rate down with adjustments by the Board of Review, the increase in the tax bills can be held to a minimum. The tax assessments for Nameoki Township will be published in the Granite City Press-Record sometime during the month of December. If the taxpayer is not satisfied with his or her assessment, complaint forms will be available at my office at 78 Commerce Dr., Granite City, Illinois 62040. Township Office, 4250 Hwy. 162, Granite City, which are to be filled out and sent to the Board of Review, Edwardsville, for a hearing date. You have within twenty days to file a complaint form with the Board of Review after publication. Any taxpayer, who needs help or information in filling out their complaint form can call the Assessor's Office, 931-5688. CARL MACIOS Nameoki Tax Assessor

Notice of Public Hearing

Re: Service changes in Illinois, to be implemented on January 1, 1981 or as soon thereafter as possible.

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by Bi-State Development Agency at the Ambassador Building, 411 North 7th Street, Room 105, St. Louis, Missouri on Tuesday, December 30, 1980. The hearing, which will begin at 7:00 p.m., is for the purpose of considering changes in bus service which are proposed to be implemented. The proposed service changes are generally described below.

A. Description of Project 1. It is proposed to eliminate sixteen (16) Illinois routes: No. 502 Cahokia-Contreville, No. 504 O'Fallon, No. 505 Waterloo-St. Louis, No. 559 East St. Louis Fairview Heights, No. 561 McKinley-Raab, No. 562 Lebanon Avenue, No. 564 Scott Air Force Base, No. 565 Swansea-Normal, No. 703 Washington Park, No. 704 Missouri Stockyards, No. 706 20th and Central, No. 709 East St. Louis-Crownston, No. 504X O'Fallon Express, No. 558X Tubman Express, No. 559X West Main Express, No. 560X Belleville Express.

2. Weekend service will be eliminated on all Illinois routes: No. 560 Belleville-St. Louis, No. 702 Rosemont, No. 706 Alta Sta (20th and Central portion to be eliminated).

3. This proposal is contingent upon final action by St. Clair and Madison Counties regarding the establishment of the transit district and tax levy.

4. Bi-State's service area includes St. Louis City, St. Louis County and Jefferson and St. Charles Counties in Missouri, and Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties in Illinois.

5. The estimated transit operating budget for FY 1981 is $94,134,554. Of this amount, $20,615,225 will be provided by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, $9,211,000 will be provided by the Illinois Department of Transportation, $274,000 will be provided by miscellaneous income. $232,113,866 will be provided by passenger revenue and $46,220,463 will be provided by local funding sources.

"No persons, families, or businesses will be displaced by this project."

C. Environment This project will not have a significant environmental impact upon the urban-service areas.

D. Comprehensive Planning This project is in conformance with comprehensive land use and transportation planning in the St. Louis area and is consistent with the adopted programming of projects in the Transportation Improvement Program.

E. Elderly and Handicapped The design of the project contained herein takes into consideration the special needs of the elderly and handicapped.

F. Charter Bus Operations Bi-State Development Agency does not engage in any charter services outside of the St. Louis, Missouri, Illinois Metropolitan District (inclusive of Alton, Illinois).

G. School Bus Service Bi-State Development Agency does not engage in any school bus operations exclusively for the transportation of students or school personnel.

II. At the hearing, Bi-State Development Agency will afford an opportunity to interested persons or agencies to be heard with respect to the social, economic and environmental aspects of the project. Interested persons may submit orally or in writing, evidence and recommendations with respect to said project.

III. Should the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) prepare a formal statement of the environmental impact of the project, the availability of such statement from UMTA will be made known by application in the same manner as publication of the notice of public hearing.

IV. A copy of the application for the Transportation Improvement Program for the area is currently available for public inspection at Bi-State Development Agency, 411 North 7th Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63101, between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Varied night classes in Madison, Venice

"Energy-conscious students may want to register for classes in Madison and Venice this winter and spring rather than driving unnecessarily to the main Belleville Area College campus," a BAC spokesman said this week.

"Credit classes are scheduled locally, and credits will transfer readily to other colleges and universities."

Physical fitness will be offered at the Venice extension center. Registration will be Jan. 5, 6 and 7 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Venice High School guidance office.

Venice Coordinator Albert Schaefer may be contacted at 877-6901 for further information.

Credit courses to be taught at Madison High are typing I, welding I, health, general psychology, and elementary Spanish.

Numerous non-credit courses will be offered in Madison to help develop talents and skills for improved job situations or for hobbies.

4-H club to entertain

Leaders of 4-H honored

Madison County 4-H adult leaders were honored at the 4-H leaders appreciation banquet this month in Edwardsville. The banquet and awards program is an annual event, sponsored by the 4-H Federation to show appreciation to the volunteer leaders for service and leadership given to 4-H club work throughout the county.

There are currently 669 4-H members in the county between the ages of 8 and 19, 45 clubs, and 98 leaders.

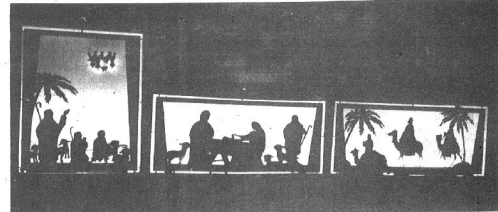

Leaders receiving pins for one to four years of completed club leadership included Linda Fulcher, Claudine Snelson, Belinda Hoffman, Arla Ault and Beta Millianis, all of Granite City. A certificate for six years of service was awarded to Joanna Spencer of Granite City.

A Christmas carol highlight of the evening was presented by a String Ensemble of Edwardsville 4-H members.

Guests joined in singing favorite carols as Santa Claus passed out handcraft treats to all.

Four-H Federation members serving on the planning committee were: Margaret Lewis, chairman; Janice Nagel, David and Susan Givlio, Annette Nolte, Barb Geiger and Geri Bower, homemaking extension adviser.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY for 23 years at Concordia Lutheran Church, 2301 Grand Ave., has been portrayed on the front lawn by means of shadow boxes. The late Herbert Rapp, assisted by the late Charles Droege, both members of the church, constructed the shadow boxes beginning with the manger scene in 1958, using Christmas cards as the pattern.

City agrees to water rate hike

Reluctantly, the Granite City Council Tuesday night went on record as supporting a 7½ percent rate hike for the Illinois-American Water Co.

The council was informed by City Attorney John Papa that Illinois Commerce Commission held hearings on a proposed rate increase of 14.6 percent for Illinois American.

The ICC heard objections from several large water users, including Granite City Steel, American Steel Foundries, Monsanto, the Mitchell Public Water Co. and others, as well as representatives from several of the cities served by the utility, including Granite City.

All of the industries, as well as the cities of Belleville, Waterloo and Shiloh had agreed to an increase between 7½ and 8 percent, Papa reported.

A letter was read from the ICC, noting that Granite City was one of the interveners in the rate hike hearings, and asking the city council to go on record as supporting the 7½ to 8 percent hike.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the council, "Obviously, no one wants an increase, but all of the industries have agreed, so we have very little choice."

Alderman Roy Poulos supported the increase, saying, "With our of our utilities being as high as they are, water is the cheapest per residential user we have."

Poulos seconded a motion by Alderman Lloyd Bailey that the city agree to the increase and it was approved with only Alderman Everett Morlen voting no. Aldermen Paul Ray Bowler and Margaret Norn were absent.

VENICE BURGLARY

A 19-inch color television was stolen from the home of Thelma Tanner, 614 Washington Ave., Venice, during a burglary discovered at 9:15 p.m. Thursday. A window in a door was broken to gain entry.

HOW TO LAUGH ALL THE WAY FROM THE BANK

If the idea of taking your hard-earned money to the bank to use for free and then having to pay them a service fee in addition, has upset you in the past, then think of Illini Federal. We have something for you to smile about.

COME TO ILLINI. DO NOT PASS GO. DO NOT PAY FOR CHECKING. DEPOSIT $200.

If you've got $200 or more, we've got an irresistible offer for you. Bring it to us and we'll set up a NOW Account. You'll earn 5-½% interest on all checking account money, compounded daily and paid monthly.

And best of all, if you keep at least $200 in your NOW Account, you can write checks on this money. For free.

That's right FREE No service charges, no transaction fees. If your balance dips below $200, the monthly charge is a mere three dollars.

WE'RE NOT A BANK WE'RE BETTER.

Chances are we can do everything you need a bank to do. And in a lot of cases, we can do it better.

For example, our checking (NOW) account statement is virtually self-balancing. We can also give you an instant mini-statement at the office, which includes your balance and the checks that have cleared.

Now we're all you need. ILLINI FEDERAL

SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

Then ask us about Illini's NOW Account Credit Reserve Loan.

If you qualify, it can put an end to those end-of-the-month surprises, when "someone" has forgotten to record a check, and then come chukking all the way to your nearest Illini Federal office.

And of course, we still pay a 4% more than banks on many of our savings plans.

MAKE US YOUR FAMILY FINANCIAL CENTER.

Whether it's checking, savings, or loans for homes, cars, college or vacations, visit your bank and then come chukking all the way to your nearest Illini Federal office.

NOW Accounts and Reserve Loans are available after December 31, 1980.
